New York Subway, Bus Lines Facing Possible Walkout

9,000 Electricians Also Threaten New Year's Strike

NEW YORK (AP)— The possibility of a New Year's Eve strike hung heavy today over this transit-keyed metropolis' bus and subway lines. Also threatening a Jan. 1 walkout were 9,000 electricians.

With negotiations in their customary last-week crisis stage, members of the Transport Workers Union were summoned to a strike meeting tonight.

Michael J. Quill, TWU international president, said employes of the Transit Authority and seven private bus lines would be asked to authorize a walkout if a contract dispute wasn't resolved.

Shorter work weeks are key issues in both strike threats. The transit union demands a four-day, 32-hour week. The electricians have asked a four-hour day instead of the present six-hour day.

Threat to Construction

A walkout of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers local would tie up work on millions of dollars worth of construction projects.

Quill and David L. Cole, chairman of the Transit Labor Board, were at odds on progress of the transit talks. Cole said bargainers were getting down to "brass tacks."; Quill said the talks were "rapidly breaking down."

Quill served notice that if he had a new contract agreement only with the authority—and not with the private lines—by 12:01 a.m. next Monday, the union would strike against both groups.

Talks Outcome Awaited

The only negotiations presently underway are those between the union and the authority. The private lines, which extended their expiring contracts from Dec. 1 to Jan. 1 with a pledge of retroactivity, traditionally wait for the TWU-TA talks to set the pattern.

Quill got a $35-million package from the authority in a 1959 contract.

With the strike threat looming, Mayor Robert F. Wagner confirmed that the city is considering a plan to lease the Fifth Avenue Coach Lines and its subsidiary, Surface Transit Inc., and then hire the present management to operate the city's two biggest bus lines.

Talks in the threatened electricians strike were to resume today with both sides expressing little hope of early agreement.

The four employers' associations have flatly rejected the electricians' demand for a five-day, 20-hour work week.

The workers now have a five-day, 30-hour week, at the rate of $4.40 an hour. They work a seventh hour each day at time-and-a-half rates.

Train Crashes Into Platform

Man Dies, 35 Persons Hurt in Derailment In West Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — One person was killed and at least 35 others injured Tuesday night when an elevated train rammed a station platform. Four of the five cars were derailed, teetering against a thin iron railing 35 feet above a busy West Philadelphia intersection.

Short circuits lit up the area with electrical flashes for 15 minutes following the accident at the Philadelphia Transportation Co.'s York and Dauphin Streets station.

The dead man was identified as Earl Giberson, 45, Philadelphia. Witnesses said the train bounced crazily for more than 200 feet before coming to rest, tilted against the railing. Falling concrete broke several store windows.

Police said there were about 100 passengers on the train, all of whom were trapped briefly until rescue workers could guide them to safety along the narrow catwalk. The injured were taken to nearby hospitals. None apparently were hurt seriously.

A fire, touched off by sparks from the third rail, broke out in the third car. Firemen controlled it quickly.

Auxiliary policeman John Somers, 26, one of the first rescuers on the scene, said there was some yelling but little panic.

Talks Between Laotian Princes End in Collapse

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The heralded three-princes' meeting apparently collapsed today in less than an hour.

After months of maneuvering by Laotian politicians and pressure by foreign diplomats, neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and his pro-Communist half-brother Souphanouvong arrived for talks with pro-Western Premier Boun Oum on formation of a coalition government.

Boun Oum neither met them at the airport nor went to the appointed meeting place. Growing impatient, the two visiting princes finally paid a courtesy call on Prince Boun Oum at his residence. The meeting lasted less than an hour.

Boun Oum told newsmen that as far as he was concerned there was no further need of a princely meeting.

"The two princes came to see me and we talked, there you had your princely meeting," he said.

The outcome astounded and depressed diplomats in this little kingdom, who had watched the weeks of haggling over trivial arrangements for the meeting.

Mrs. R. M. LaFollette Jr. Dies in New York City

MADISON (AP) — Mrs. Robert M. LaFollette Jr., 68, widow of the late U. S. Senator died in New York Tuesday night following a heart attack, Madison relatives of the family said today.

Mrs. La Follette lived in Washington, D. C., and was in New York with a son, Joseph, for the Christmas holiday.

A son, Bronson C., is a Madison attorney.

Mrs. LaFollette, the former Rachel Wilson Young, was secretary to Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, who succeeded his father in Congress.

Order to Ban Discrimination May be Shelved

Kennedy to Speed Agency on Housing And Urban Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to lay aside an executive order that would prohibit racial discrimination in federally aided housing.

But, officials said Tuesday, he will speed up action on creation of a Cabinet-level department of urban affairs and housing, probably by taking a short cut—establishing the department under his own reorganization powers.

If this were done, congressional opponents of the new department would have to muster enough support to veto the plan within 60 days of its announcement by the President.

It has been widely predicted that Robert C. Weaver, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, would be named secretary of the department and become the first Negro to attain Cabinet rank.

Order Delayed

But officials said privately this apparently is as far as the Kennedy administration will go in the field of racial equality in housing until Congress adjourns next summer.

On the advice of administration leaders in Congress and some other political advisers, it was reported. Kennedy is deferring a long-considered executive order barring racial or religious discrimination in any housing built with federal help in the form of loan, loan guarantee or mortgage insurance.

Officials earlier predicted freely the order would be forthcoming before Congress reconvened Jan. 10. Kennedy promised such an order in his presidential election campaign.

Kennedy is expected to support civil rights bills pending in both houses to prohibit racial discrimination in employment, speed up integration of schools and outlaw poll taxes in federal elections.

Retired Minister Found Murdered in His Farm Dwelling

BROOKLYN, Mich. (AP) — A slayer was hunted today in the death of a retired Methodist minister who was beaten with a hammer, bound with rope and then set afire in a room of his farm home.

The body of the Rev. Roy R. Decker, 70, of Tecumseh, Mich., was found beneath a smoldering blanket by firemen Tuesday. His hands were tied behind his back.

State police said the death "definitely was murder." They said they were looking for a suspect who fled in the minister's car.

The body was found in a bedroom of the two-story, frame farm home owned by the Rev. Mr. Decker. A ball-peen hammer was found near the charred body.

State Police Lt. Joseph Lichherr said that the minister was knocked unconscious with the hammer, bound and then doused with gasoline or kerosene and set afire.

Dr. Joseph H. Ahronheim, a pathologist, said the minister apparently suffered a heart attack after the beating and then suffocated in the burning room.

Holiday Traffic Toll Grows to 524

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths during the Christmas holiday totaled 524, the highest toll for a three-day Christmas period since 1955.

The Associated Press survey also showed 83 deaths in fires and 86 in miscellaneous accidents. The National Safety Council, which had estimated 500 traffic fatalities, said its count showed 523 killed. The traffic toll in last year's Christmas holiday period was 488, the lowest in 10 years for a three-day observance.

The council estimates 330 persons will be killed in auto accidents during the three-day New Year's holiday period starting at 6 p.m. Friday. The toll in last New Year's period, also a Saturday-Sunday-Monday weekend, was 338.

Twins Lana, Right, and Johanna Nightingale, Steinbach, Manitoba, had a special reason for being thankful for Christmas gifts this holiday season. Last year at this time, Johanna was dying of a rare kidney disease, but sister Lana gave up one of her healthy kidneys so Johanna might live. The transplant operation was successfully performed at a hospital in Boston, Dec. 28, 1960.

Armada on Way to Tiny Oil Region

LONDON (AP)—British officials today disclosed an armada is hurrying toward the Persian Gulf oil sheikhdom of Kuwait to meet a suspected Iraqi military threat.

The admiralty said that at least six warships, led by the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Centaur, have sailed from the East African base of Mombasa for an unannounced destination.

Other officials reported that the ships—which include two frigates, a tank landing ship and two big fleet auxiliaries—are heading for the Kuwait area.

They added several other precautionary British fleet moves are under way but are secret.

Over the Christmas weekend, intelligence and diplomatic reports from the region indicated to the British government that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassim has been massing troops, possibly as the prelude to an invasion to achieve the annexation of Kuwait he threatened last summer.

Troops Alerted

The Defense Ministry announced Tuesday that 300 troops, most of them transport aircraft crewmen, had been put on the alert and troops were reported standing by to be flown from Nairobi, Kenya, if needed.

Britain forestalled an Iraqi invasion last July by landing troops in Kuwait at the request of Sheik Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah after Kassim renewed his country's claim to the little neighboring territory.

Britain is bound by treaty to protect the sheikdom on the northern end of the Persian Gulf. Kuwait was a British protectorate until last June. British forces withdrew from Kuwait in September after Arab League countries, despite Iraq's objections, sent 2,000 troops to Kuwait to protect it.

Tension Grows

The British announcement asserted that "during the past 24 hours our forecast that the Christmas period might be used to increase tension has been partially confirmed as far as the Middle East is concerned.

"Although operations are not thought to be imminent, certain small-scale precautionary measures have again had to be taken."

Foreign Minister Hashem Jawad of Iraq declared in a statement broadcast by Baghdad radio Tuesday that Iraq considers the establishment of diplomatic relations with Kuwait by countries which have representatives in Baghdad an "unfriendly act designed to deny Iraq's rights and harm its vital interests."

Kuwait protested to the Arab League last week that Iraq had seized 10 of its ships off the Iraqi port of Basra. It also claimed that Kassem's regime had frozen all Kuwaiti deposits in Iraqi banks.

Nasser Severs Nation's Ties With Yemen

Imam Ahmed Takes Stand Against Move Toward Socialism

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser's domain is back where it started—confined to Egypt—following severance of the loose federation that joined the little Arabian Peninsula kingdom of Yemen to the United Arab Republic.

Nasser broke the tie with Yemen Tuesday night, apparently because of the opposition of Yemen's feudal ruler, the Imam Ahmed, to Nasser's accelerating program to convert the U.A.R. to socialism.

Yemeni exiles in Beirut predicted the break with Nasser might touch off a revolution in their homeland that would unseat the imam, one of the world's last absolute monarchs.

Loose Federation

The two countries had been linked in the United Arab States, a loose federation formed a month after the proclamation of the U.A.R. joining Egypt and Syria in March 1958.

Syria broke out of the U.A.R. last September, but Nasser's government retained the name that symbolizes Nasser's thwarted dream of a unified Arab world.

The statement announcing the break with Yemen said the two governments had nothing in common "to make the federation between them an effective political instrument able to contribute positively in strengthening the Arab struggle."

In posing as the symbol of the new wave in the Middle East, Nasser could hardly afford to remain tied to the feudal Red Sea monarch, who published a poem attacking Nasser's Arab socialism after the break with Syria.

Congo, Belgium Resume Relations

Adoula's Hand Strengthened In Dealing With Secession

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Belgium resumed diplomatic relations with the Congo today, strengthening Premier Cyrille Adoula's hand in dealing with Katanga's secession.

Restoration of relations was announced as Parliament awaited the arrival of Katanga members to take their seats as provided in Adoula's recent unity agreement with Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Relations with Belgium, former colonial ruler of the Congo, were broken 17 months ago in a fit of anticolonial fury. The late leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba was angered because Belgium tried to protect its citizens and property with troops during the riots after independence.

Supported Tshombe

Belgian interests also supported Tshombe in his defiance of the central government. Belgium investment is heavy in the copper, uranium and other mineral riches of Katanga.

Gradually, the Belgian government and commercial interests in Brussels have swung around to favor Congo unity under a central government in Leopoldville, much to Tshombe's annoyance.

A central government was provided in the constitution Belgium drafted for its colony, but the chaos that ensued after independence was granted in 1960 kept the constitution from being ratified by Parliament.

May Change Constitution

The 15-member Katanga parliamentary delegation, to be flown from the Katanga capital of Elisabethville in a U.N. plane, is expected to propose changes in the constitution to give provinces greater freedom from Leopoldville's control.

The pact signed by Adoula and Tshombe at the U.N. base of Kitona recognized the central government's control over Katanga, but the Katanga leader never has dropped his objections to a strong central regime.

3 Perish in Fire On 9th Floor of New York Hotel

NEW YORK (AP) — Two residents and a fireman died early today in a fire on the ninth floor of the 17-story Hotel Mayflower overlooking Central Park.

Two other men—apparently residents—were burned, one of them critically. Seven firemen were burned or overcome by smoke.

Most of the 400 guests in the largely residential hotel at Central Park West and 61st St. fled from their rooms shortly before 2 a.m.

The guests—many of them in nightclothes—congregated in the lobby. There was no panic. Two of them carried pet canaries from their rooms.

They streamed down to the lobby via stairwells and elevators after the hotel manager pressed a button that sounded an alarm on every floor.

The fire burned out of control for almost an hour. City firemen, called out on two alarms, kept the blaze from spreading from the ninth floor.

An unidentified man, walking past the hotel as the alarm was sounded, heard calls for help and ran inside. He ran through the hotel, pounding on doors and shouting an alarm.

Controversy Continues

Al Jennings, Ex-Train Robber and Self-Styled Badman, Dies at 98

TARZANA, Calif. (AP)—Alfonso Jackson (Al) Jennings, train robber, ex-convict, lawyer, lecturer, evangelist, politician, movie celebrity and chicken rancher who hated killing chickens, is dead at 98.

The self-styled bantam badman from the Oklahoma badlands died Tuesday with his boots off in his tree-shaded white frame house.

Controversy Continues

His nephew, Tillman V. Eggleston, said Al had been despondent since the recent death of his wife Maude, 81, and "was suffering the illnesses of old age."

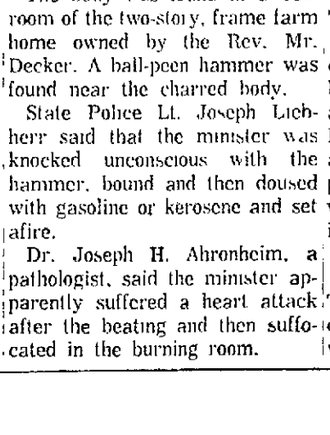

Despite Jennings' death, the controversy he created still lives.

Was he really a desperado of the Jesse James or Dalton gang caliber? Or was tiny Al, only a lick and a spit over 5 feet tall, just a onetime loser, a luckless train robber, who cashed in on a legend he embroidered for naive movie folks in later years?

Al said he was once a horse thief and declared: "Some of the finest men I ever knew were horse thieves." He also claimed he killed more men than he could count—all in self-defense.

But author Stuart Lake, Western scholar and biographer of Wyatt Earp, says with a bit of scorn: "There's no record of Al ever killing anyone."

Al said he was a feared outlaw and train robber in the 1890s, terrorizing a score of trains in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Kansas.

Al Jennings

The record shows Jennings was convicted in 1895 for robbing a Rock Island train in Oklahoma, sentenced to life imprisonment, paroled after five years and pardoned in 1907 by President Theodore Roosevelt.

Lake says of that one proven train robbery: "The gang netted only about three bucks apiece. A posse found out they were holed up at a ranch house and came after 'em. Al was so scared he couldn't pull the trigger. They took 'em all away to prison, like taking candy from a baby."

Met O. Henry in Prison

Al claimed he outshot Jesse and Frank James at the age of 14 in a shooting contest at Dodge City, Mo., that he knew the Dalton boys, Bat Masterson, Doc Holliday, Wyatt Earp, as well as humorist Will Rogers.

Al also said he met writer O. Henry in a federal penitentiary and that he, Al, was the inspiration for many of the author's tales.

Nonsense, says Lake. When the Western scholars presented facts to refute Jennings' claim, "each

JFK's Trade Plan May Get Early Test

Administration Wants Opponents To Have Little Time to Develop An Effective Counter-Offensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may tackle President Kennedy's proposal for a new trade program as its first major piece of business in 1962, if the strategy under consideration by administration leaders is adopted.

The idea would be to give opponents as little time as possible to mount a counter offensive to the administration's intense campaign for a broadened trade act—a campaign that has been under way since Congress adjourned in September.

The theme that the United States must promptly come to an agreement with the booming European Common Market or risk being squeezed out of vital export markets has been hammered by high officials in speech after speech during the recess.

Tariff Cutting

A joint economic subcommittee headed by international trade-minded Rep. Hale Boggs. D-La., has provided a forum for additional arguments in favor of increasing the President's tariff-cutting powers.

The stiffest opposition to an expanded reciprocal trade program comes from Congress members scattered across the country and in both parties but united in having industries at home that consider themselves particularly vulnerable to foreign competition.

It was learned today that the House Ways and Means Committee, which has charge of this and other major administration proposals, may be asked to sidetrack one of the others in order to rush a reciprocal trade bill to the floor.

Forced Draft

Even under forced draft, several weeks would be required to conduct hearings and shape a measure that would stand a chance of House passage. The key consideration likely would be proposals for help to vulnerable industries to diversify or otherwise adjust themselves to increased competition. Kennedy is expected to make detailed recommendations soon after Congress reconvenes Jan. 10.

Administration strategist say they have the votes in the powerful 25-man committee to approve legislation substantially in accord with Kennedy's ideas. Some Republican members are known to favor broadened reciprocal trade arrangements and will likely concentrate on obtaining what they consider favorable domestic industry relief provisions.

Sense of Urgency

A sense of urgency was sounded also on the Senate side, from the Democratic leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana.

"So far we have been given generalities on what the administration wants for foreign trade," said Mansfield. He said he hoped "we can get to the specifics shortly."

He said since Congress is heading into an election year and hopeful of an early adjournment, he thought the House Ways and Means committee and the Senate Finance Committee, should conduct the foreign trade hearings "simultaneously or possibly combining their hearings."

He also suggested that the administration should act quickly on foreign aid, saying: "We have a difficult session ahead, and there will be no time to lose."

France Seeks Belgian Aid Against OAS

Fascists in Belgium Giving Support to Secret Organization

BY PAUL GHALI
Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS — France is asking its Belgian neighbors to help stop the support given by Fascist Belgian groups to the Secret Army Organization (OAS) that threatens France with civil war.

Information has reached Paris police that the OAS headquarters for France is located at Tournai, south of Brussels, and that the OAS was given active financial and material support by local Fascist cells linked to Nazi groups in Western and Northern Europe.

All leaflets that the OAS distributes lavishly in France are printed in Tournai, which is also the center for OAS money operations, informants said.

The OAS is fighting official French moves toward an independent Algeria.

OAS Links

The first information on the OAS links in Belgium came from Communist circles only too eager to spoil the good relations between France and Belgium. But confirmation followed quickly from neutral sources in Switzerland and West Germany.

A French Communist senator demanded that Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville intervene with Belgium to halt this "abnormal intrusion in French home affairs."

The senator gave such precise information as to the number of OAS accounts in Belgian banks that diplomatic intervention in Brussels now becomes inevitable.

The question is obviously embarrassing for French diplomacy at a time when France particularly needs the Belgium government's support in Common Market relations.

Latest Proposal

Meanwhile, it appears that President Charles de Gaulle is about to be given the final Algerian answer to the French latest proposal concerning the last two unsolved questions between French Algerians — guarantees for French minorities and the French base at Merselkebir.

Two FLN leaders, Lakdar ben Tobal and Ahmed Boumendjel, left Tunis for home where they reportedly are going to meet with De Gaulle's envoys.

French official circles remain optimistic concerning the final outcome of the present secret parleys.

What mostly worries the French today are possible OAS reactions if De Gaulle, as he is expected Friday night in a speech, alludes to a possible cease-fire in the Algerian rebellion and opening of official French-Algerian talks to implement an already reached agreement.

The OAS has repeatedly warned that it would launch a new military putsch in Algeria at the "first indication that De Gaulle has come to terms with FLN."

Ribicoff Would Accept Draft In Connecticut

Statement Follows Declarations by Two Democrats

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff says he would accept a draft to run for the U.S. Senate from Connecticut next year.

Ribicoff, one of President Kennedy's earliest political supporters, said Tuesday night that a story in the Hartford Courant saying he might accept the draft for the Democratic nomination was "basically correct."

His statement followed the declarations of two Democratic congressmen that they will seek the governorships of their states in 1962.

Two-Term Democrat

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, a two-term Democrat from Schenectady who has fared well politically in a Republican area, announced he will seek the governorship of New York.

Rep. Dale Alford, elected to Congress in the aftermath of school integration troubles in his home town of Little Rock, declared he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of Arkansas.

Ribicoff has been rumored as a possible opponent for Sen. Prescott Bush, a Republican who has said he will seek reelection.

Ribicoff told a newsman he would not seek the nomination at the state Democratic convention next June. But he confirmed the report in the Courant that he would accept a draft.

Scattered Support

Stratton has received scattered support from upper New York State Democratic organizations. However, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City is expected to play a major role in selecting the party's nominee and may even decide to make the race himself.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee in 1964, has said he will seek another four-year term as governor.

Alford's announcement cleared some smoke from Arkansas' political scene.

Three-way jockeying for two jobs has been anticipated. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, already has announced his candidacy for another six-year term. Alford, a doctor, previously said he would seek the governorship if Gov. Orval E. Faubus challenged Fulbright in the Democratic primary.

Faubus still hasn't announced his plans. He said Alford's announcement will have no bearing on them. Faubus is serving his fourth two-year term as governor.

Ex-Governor's Suit Against Kohler Corp. To be Tried Jan. 2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Trial of former Gov. Walter J. Kohler's suit against the Kohler Corp. for the alleged difference between true value and the sale price of stock he sold the corporation in 1953 will begin Jan. 2, before U.S. District Court Judge Kenneth P. Grubb.

Kohler claims he was induced to sell at $115 a share by "misrepresentations, half-truths and emissions" relating to the value of the stock. The former Republican chief executive seeks $214,156 plus interest from Feb. 20, 1953.

Kohler said he sold the shares after being elected governor.

Economic Growth Rate Slows in W. Europe

Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — A general slowing down of the rate of economic growth wars reported in the third quarter of 1961 from all six members of the European Economic Community (Common Market).

The Association of German Industries in Cologne says industrial production throughout the community was only 4 per cent higher in the third quarter of 1961 than in the corresponding period for 1960.

The growth in the first six months of 1961 was at an annual rate of 7.5 per cent, and for the whole of 1960 it was 13 per cent.

Newspaper in Kenosha Sold By Kingsley

KENOSHA (AP) — Controlling interest in the 68-year-old Kenosha Evening News was sold Tuesday to the Kenosha News Publishing Corp., whose principal stockholder is Howard J. Brown, a 38-year-old one-time foreign correspondent.

Brown, who is married and the father of a daughter, will move to Kenosha and become associate publisher and executive vice president of the firm. He currently makes his home at Middletown, N.Y.

Newspaper Background

Brown served as a foreign correspondent for the Chicago Sun-Times and also was on the staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and was general manager of the Middletown Times-Herald. Most recently he had been asssociated with Ottawa Newspapers-Radio Inc., publisher of the Middletown Times-Herald.

No financial details were disclosed.

Ralph S. Kingsley, editor and publisher of the news, said the change in ownership "will not affect executive structure, personnel nor policies." He will retain the office of publisher and will be president and a director of the successor company.

The News has a circulation of about 24,000 and lists itself as an Independent Republican. Kenosha has a population of about 68,000.

Scientists Mapping Big Chunk Of Himalayan 'Roof of World'

Chicago Daily News Service

BONN, Germany — German and Austrian scientists and Alpinists are mapping a big chunk of the remote "Roof of the World" for the first time in its history.

Geographers, geologists, biologists and meterologists are cooperating in the effort that will extend over a period of more than three years.

100 Square Miles

The map and its associated studies will cover an area of about 100 square miles, including four peaks of more than 25,000 feet, and ranging from Makalu in the east to the Gaurisankar group in the west.

The program had its origin during the international Himalayan expedition of 1955 when Erwin Schneider, an Austrian mountain cartographer, produced the first accurate map of the immediate area of Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak.

Among other things, this map made possible the recent border delineation between Nepal and China that leaves the south face of Mt. Everest in Nepal. China had claimed the whole peak.

Germany Turns Over 49th Vessel to Israel

Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — The Har Gilead, a 6,700-ton cargo ship designed for the banana trade, has been turned over to Israel by the German shipyard in Hamburg, where the ship was built.

The Har Gilead is the last of 49 vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 265,000 to be constructed in Germany under the terms of West Germany's restitution agreement with Israel.

The cost of the ships was $80,000,000. Altogether the West Germans will have paid Israel $833,000,000 by 1965, when the 12-year cycle of deliveries is completed.

The Communist regime in East Germany has refused to admit any liability to Israel for Nazi persecution of the Jews.

Congo Controversy Problem for U. S.

Average American Aware of Mess, but May Not Understand It

BY WILLIAM McGAFFIN
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The Congo, without a doubt, is one of the toughest problems the United States has ever tried to handle.

The average American is aware that it is a mess, but he may not be sure just why. There are several reasons:

1. The Congo was not ready for independence when it got it 17 months ago. This was the fault of the Belgians, who made a lot of money out of the colony but never attempted, as the British and French did, to train the Africans for self-government.

Communist Base

2. The Soviet Union has done its best to keep the situation stirred up, in keeping with its ambitions to establish a Communist base in the heart of Africa.

3. Stability has been further upset by the secession of mineral-rich Katanga Province, whose leader is Moise Tshombe.

The fighting that took place recently was between United Nations troops and Katangan forces.

The United States has been working hard to bring Katanga back into the central government which is headed by Premier Cyrille Adoula.

The first step of an agreement reached last week between Tshombe and Adoula was scheduled to be implemented today.

New Constitution

Tshombe, who has reneged on agreements in the past, arranged for Katanga deputies to go to Leopoldville, the Congolese capital. Their mission: To begin discussions with Adoula representatives on a new constitution.

As a major concession to Tshombe, Adoula has agreed to redraft the constitution. The intended result will be a federal arrangement permitting Katanga Province more autonomy.

The U.S. has decided that it would be wise to do some decentralizing in the Congo...

As Undersecretary of State George W. Ball noted in a recent pamphlet, "The Congo is a very large country; its institutions for government are still in the 'less developed' category; its leadership cadres are still dangerously thin; many of its people still lack a sense of nationhood."

Local Autonomy

In these circumstances, he said, "most of the political leaders of the Congo appear to believe that there should be enough local autonomy on local matters to discourage secession."

But why should not Katanga remain independent if it chooses? Here is Ball's explanation:

"The government structure which the Belgians left behind in the Congo is the only political structure the Congo has ever known...

"To break up this entity into a number of conflicting and competing tribal satrapies could only confirm and render permanent chaos we have already seen in the Congo. And that would open the way inevitably for the Soviets and their friends to fish where they can catch the most—in troubled waters.

Fire Destroys Supper Club at Big Cedar Lake

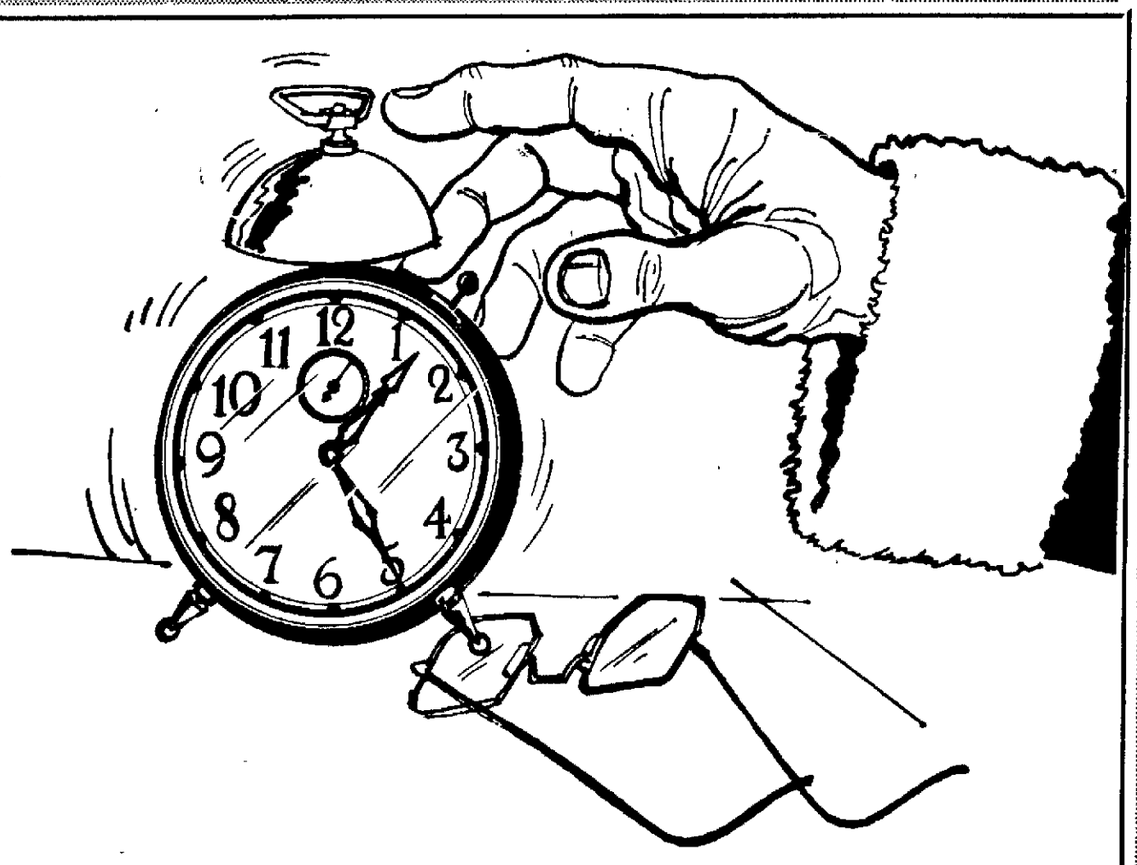

SLINGER (AP)—Fire destroyed the Linden Inn., a supper club on the shore of Big Cedar Lake near here, Tuesday night.

Fire Chief Roland Miller said the cause of the blaze was not known. An estimate of the loss could not be obtained.

The two-story structure was reduced to rubble in 90 minutes. The inn had been closed for remodeling since mid-December and was scheduled to reopen in February, nearby residents said.

For 1st Time in State History, Sales Tax Will Provide Funds

MADISON (AP)—For the first time in history Wisconsin will turn to a sales tax under the new tax program to provide a significant share of state revenues.

Starting Feb. 1 Wisconsin residents will pay a three per cent sales tax on a long list of consumer goods and services. About $53 million a year will be raised from the selective sales tax.

Under the selective sales tax approach, the specific items to be taxed are enumerated. Not subject to the tax are so-called essentials such as food, clothing, drugs and rent.

Taxable Items

In the tax plan these items are listed as subject to the sales tax:

Beer and liquor.

Tobacco and tobacco products and all smokers' supplies. This list includes pipes, snuff, lighters, pipe cleaners, cigarette papers, pipe and cigarette tobacco, chewing tobacco, lighter fluid and flints, tobacco humidifiers and cigarette making machines.

Cars, trucks, trailers, semi-trailers, road machinery, mobile cranes and trench hoes. Exempt are vehicles in this class which are used by contract and common motor carriers and vehicles used for mass transportation

Radios, TV Sets

Radios, television sets, phonographs, recorders, musical instruments, records and sheet music.

Meals, beverages and other food sold by restaurants, hotels, bars and caterers

Recreational, sporting, hobby and athletic goods and equipment.

Household and business furniture, furnishings, floor coverings, all appliances, power tools, outdoor garden and lawn equipment and tools

Jewelry, watches, clocks, opera and field glasses and binoculars.

Hotel, motel, rooming house, resort or apartment lodging if rented as transiet lodging for less than a month.

Admissions to recreational or sporting events—theaters, football games, golf fees and dues or fees of clubs or organizations that have the use of entertainment or recreational facilities.

Telegraph Service

Intrastate telegraph services to business, industrial, profession and commercial users.

Telephone services to those same users, except calls made from coin telephones

Some groups are exempt from the sales tax no matter what they buy. The groups are units of government, churches, schools, colleges and universities, charitable, student and parent teacher organizations.

Except for the tax on automobiles, the seller is responsible for collecting the tax. For automobiles the tax is paid by the buyer when he purchases the license for the vehicle.

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson's office has prepared this estimate of the impact of the new income tax rates on a typical family of four.

Column one is gross income. The second column shows what the normal tax liability due April 15, 1962 would have been. The third column shows the liability with the 65 per cent forgiveness. The final column gives the effect produced by the new rates, higher personal exemptions and repeal of the surtax. This figure can be divided by the individual's number of pay periods in 1962 to show the amount that will be withheld from each paycheck.

Gross Income	Present Tax	Actually Due	New Tax on 1962 Income
3,000	$6	$2	$20
4,000	29	10	48
5,000	59	21	83
6,000	94	32	123
7,000	134	47	165

Bolling Is Without Administration Support

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., says he does not have the support of the Kennedy administration in his bid for majority leader of the House of Representatives.

"The administration is keeping out of this matter," Boling said. "It is a House decision."

The Missouri congressman, interviewed on KMBC-TV Tuesday said his chances of being elected majority leader are very good.

Sukarno Names Staff For Island Campaign

JAKARTA (AP)—President Sukarno named a special operations staff Tusdeay to advise him on Netherlands New Guinea from Indonesia's preparations to wrest Netherlands New Guinea from Dutch control.

The president said the staff is designed to strengthen the supreme command in charge of the campaign.

Sukarno last week called on the nation to mobilize for military action but the indications are Indonesia would await Dutch parliamentary discussion of the issue on Jan. 2 before acting.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson views the completed copy of the tax revision bill delivered to his office Tuesday by Robert G. Marotz, right, chief clerk of the Assembly. The bill will levy a selected sales tax, boost income taxes one per cent and put Wisconsin on a withholding collection system. The governor is expected to sign the measure by Thursday.

time the old man would just sputter and walk away," said Lake.

Al Jennings was born in Tazewell County, Va., and left home at 11 because his father killed his pet squirrel—"I could always kill a man without batting an eye but I couldn't stand to see an animal harmed," Al once said.

He was admitted to the bar in Comanche County, Kan., in 1884, moved to El Reno, Okla., and was elected county attorney in 1892. He said he turned outlaw when his brother was killed in a gunfight and a jury freed the slayers. Jennings claimed he killed the murderers in a gunfight and became a wanted man.

After imprisonment and release, he became a lecturer, then an evangelist and ran for governor of Oklahoma in 1914. Al contended: "I would have made it but I was counted out. At 11:30 o'clock election night, I was 38,000 votes ahead. By midnight, I was 35,000 behind. Politics is not a lot crookeder than train robbing."

Jennings came to California in 1915—and ultimately became an advisor to movie-makers on Western folklore.

Nasser Severs Nation's Ties With Yemen

proached the working relationship that Nassei had with Syria. It was a limited association in defense, cultural and economic affairs. The U.A.R. bore most of the cost.

In return, Nasser got the prestige of influence outside his own country. The imam won immunity from the stinging attacks of Nasser's radio, voice of the Arabs. This immunity ended last Saturday when Nasser made a speech accusing Yemen, Jordan and Saudi Arabia of opposing his socialization program.

The imam's throne has been a shaky one recently. Last March he was severely wounded in an assassination attempt, one of several close escapes from his enemies.

Travelers arriving in Beirut from Yemen two weeks ago reported the discovery of another plot and the arrest of several persons.

Japan Authorizes First 'Monorail'

TOKYO (AP)—The Transportation Ministry today authorized the construction of Japan's first major passenger monorail. It will link Tokyo International Airport with downtown Tokyo, possibly in time for the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

Planners say the elevated railway will cover the 9-mile distance in 15 minutes at 36 miles an hour. Construction costs are estimated at $27 million.

Myron Gordon Takes Supreme Court Oath

MADISON (AP) — The oath of office as a justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court was taken Tuesday by Myron L. Gordon, who will begin a 10-year term on Jan. 2.

The oath of office to the former Circuit Court judge from Milwaukee was administered by Secretary of State Robert C. Zimmerman.

Gordon, who was elected last April, will take the oath a second time in a formal ceremony Jan. 2 in the Supreme Court Chambers. At that time, Justice Grover L. Broadfoot will take the oath as chief justice to succeed retiring Chief Justice John E. Martin.

Back to the Woodshed

The "permissive" school of teaching and rearing children received a nasty blow a couple of weeks ago. Experiments by a couple of doctors in Canada showed that youngsters threatened with punishment did a lot better work than those promised a reward.

There actually were no willow switches or thumbscrews used. One group of youngsters was asked to distinguish between white and black sections painted on squares and given a piece of candy for the right answer. Another group heard a loud unpleasant noise for a wrong answer. A third control group was given both the candy and the noise.

The same sort of tests have been tried on animals and the combination is the best producer of right results. But among the children, the group threatened with punishment was much more accurate than the others. And those given the candy were the poorest of all.

Since performance isn't everything in bringing up children, the results of the tests are only part of the story. Those constantly faced with punishment may grow up into Scrooges or neurotics.

But anyway, parents and teachers can understand why performance percentages in today's schools don't always seem to measure up to the old days when the dunce cap, ruler and woodshed still were in vogue.

The First Lady Is a Linguist

Mrs. John Kennedy apparently has made a hit with some of her elaborate and well-planned White House parties and receptions for visiting diplomats. But her education in foreign languages is equally important in helping her husband win friends and influence people in other countries.

Since her own background was French, she had extensive instruction in that language and spent many months in France. Her familiarity with the language was of tremendous aid when she accompanied the President to Europe last spring. Now her knowledge of Spanish, learned at college from a teacher now living in Madison, has paid off among people who are sensitive about what they regard as Yankee arrogance. Most Latin Americans who reach high school learn English. But Mrs. Kennedy's ability to talk to the people without an interpreter not only did away with the clumsiness of translating everything but won her friends — and friends for the United States—through the simple power of personal popularity.

There has been much more extensive training in languages among the personnel of our embassies now than in earlier years. This is important not only to make the people of other countries feel more comfortable; some phrases simply are not translatable. How can one say "gemutlichkeit" or "no tenga la gana" in English, for instance? And American phrases like "we've got it made" or "live it up" are equally confusing to an interpreter.

Foreign language instruction now has become an important part of most secondary school curricula and finally has reached the elementary schools in cities. The younger a child learns a second language the better for his own understanding and that of others.

Process of Evolution

Officials at the Bronx zoo are puzzled because their African monkeys are just squatting on the cement floor and staring morosely at each other.

The authorities have changed things at the zoo in an effort to make them more homey for the monkeys and give a little jungle atmosphere for spectators. The polished aluminum tubes which used to form a spider web of handholds for the simians have been taken down. Instead regular tree trunks and branches and wild grape vines have been installed. The walls have been painted to give a mottled jungle look.

But the monkeys don't like the feel of rough real bark. They don't like the springiness of the vines. So far they have clearly indicated that they want their shiny aluminum tubes returned to them.

What are the officials so surprised about? How many of them would go back to tree living or cave dwelling after experiencing the marvels of civilization?

For or Against Seat Belts

Seat belts in automobiles have been recognized by practically all organizations and individuals in safety work as one of the most effective safety devices known.

Because of the widespread support for safety belts, the Wisconsin Legislature provided by law that all new automobiles sold in Wisconsin after Oct. 7, 1961, must be equipped with seat belts. The Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department regards this piece of legislation as one of the great steps toward improving safety on Wisconsin highways. It is clear, however, that safety belts installed in a car will save no lives unless they are used. The Motor Vehicle Department therefore is encouraging the use of safety belts and, strangely enough, is meeting with plenty of opposition. Nothing new is ever attempted without a certain amount of opposition. The 'aginers' are now out against safety belts. Why do they not like safety belts?

Well, to hear them tell it, it's a matter of principle. They don't like the act of the legislature enforcing belts upon them. They demand the right to use their own judgment. They state that as careful drivers they don't need the seat belts. They say that a person wearing a seat belt may be trapped in a wrecked car which is submerged in water or wrapped in flames. They say that they want to take their chances on being thrown free of the wreckage and finally don't like seat belts because they wrinkle their clothes.

These 'aginers' are not content with silent resistance. They have no intention of simply letting their seat belts dangle as they have a legal right to do. They are loud in their opposition and they preach their beliefs on every occasion, thus hoping perhaps to win others to their cause. If they are going to die with unbuckled seat belts they don't want to be alone.

To offset this, the Motor Vehicle Department has its safety workers urging the use of seat belts now that they will be available on all new cars.

In their campaign urging the use of belts, the Motor Vehicle Department safety people have attempted to answer the chief objections of the 'aginers'. They say seat belts required by law must have fast colors and further that modern clothing does not wrinkle easily. They did not mention the common sense argument that it is much better to have wrinkled clothes than to have a broken head. It is true that people have been thrown free of cars and have lived. Some few have been uninjured because they were thrown free but the research into thousands of accidents shows that remaining in the vehicle is more than five times safer than being thrown free.

As for being trapped in a burning or submerged vehicle, the seat belt is a help and not a hindrance. The wearer of the seat belt has a good chance of remaining conscious and therefore able to effect an escape whereas the person not wearing a seat belt may be knocked unconscious and therefore unable to escape even though there is no belt hindering him.

As for the careful driver not needing a seat belt, the safety men point out this is pure fiction. Safety belts are of little use to reckless drivers who insist on passing on hills or curves or who run stop signs, thus causing accidents from which it is almost impossible to survive with or without belts. But the driver obeying the speed limits and all the rules of the road and generally being guided by common sense has a good chance of going through any accident he may be involved in if he has a safety belt. In what appears to be a little "fender bender" accident in a city street many persons are seriously hurt every year. They are thrown against steering wheels, dashboards or windshields with great violence. But if such persons are wearing seat belts they are held firmly in place and often come out of the accident without a scratch.

Thus those people who are against seat belts, those who want to use their own judgment, have a perfect right to do so but they cannot claim that logic is on their side. The Motor Vehicle Department's answer to them is "There is nothing like a couple of broken ribs, or a cracked kneecap or a little powdered glass in one's hair to make seat belts seem like a good investment." So people may assert their independence, use their own judgment and claim to be careful drivers as much as they wish. But if they wear their safety belts they will be around to talk about it longer than if they do not.

New Science Brings Range of Uses for Cold Temperature

NEW YORK (AP) — An extremely deep freeze process, that has given birth to a new science, is producing some interesting results on the American technological front.

Called Cryogenics, this science's stock in trade is supercold, ranging nearly all the way down to absolute zero (minus 459 degrees Fahrenheit). This super cold is generated by liqufied gases.

By applying these gases to common items and processes, says Steelways, the publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, scientists have produced: microwave amplifiers hundreds of times more sensitive than present radar, natural gas converted into liquid form for easy shipment abroad, greater speed in computers and other electronic devices.

Full realization of Cryogenics' promise depends on successful fabrication of materials to store the super-cold gases, the magazine says. The steel industry recently has made what may become a significant breakthrough — a new steel that could cut 10 per cent from the cost of erecting storage vessels to hold the gases.

'Let's Take Back the United States!'

The State Religion

Acceptance of United Nations Has Become the New Heresy Test

BY MORRIE RYSKIND

I know only too well, alas, that time marches on and that change comes with it. But I am not as cert a in as some t h a t change is always synonymous with progress.

Ryskind

For, far away and long ago though it was, I recall a kindlier America when it was possible for men to vote for two opposing political candidates and yet remain fast friends. There might be some good-natured raillery by the winning partisans, but it followed Ben Johnson's classical injunction and was without malice or heat.

The loser of an election bet — nobody wagered money in those unenlightened days—might have to do something silly like rolling a peanut a full block's length with his nose. This he did as gracefully as possible, with the whole neighborhood turning out to laughingly cheer him on. Mission accomplished, he would then be escorted into the nearest saloon and be toasted as a game sport while everybody sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Socialist Mayor 2a

Even the lone Socialist on the block — as the village atheist in the small hamlets — was a respected member of the neighborhood fraternity. If some of his economic views were eccentric, well, this was a free country and he had a right to his opinion; and nobody questioned either his personal integrity or his private life.

Indeed, I remember that a city in Connecticut — was it Bridgeport? — made up in the main of stanch Democrats and Republicans who had never even heard of Karl Marx, regularly elected the town Socialist as Mayor because of his personal popularity and the incorruptibility of his administration.

And then came the Communist tide of internal revolution and external subversion; and in its wake came the equally menacing waters of Fascism. And, as a direct result of both, came the reinstitution of the heresy test that had darkened the Middle Ages.

In Russia; Italy 2a

In Russia, you were for Stalin — or beyond the pale; in Italy, you were judged by your devotion to Mussolini; and in Germany, of course, it was Hitler. The seeds had been planted and the time was ripe, and the Era of the Personality Cult was triumphantly ushered in.

It was a world - wide scourge, and even our two oceans could not protect us. Here the supreme test was FDR and your faith in him, and the penalty, since the New Dealers were neither Communists nor Fascists, took the more civilized form of social ostracism. But here, as abroad, there was no middle ground: you accepted Roosevelt absolutely and completely—or else.

I saw life - long friendships go down the drain on the bitter issues of packing the court and the third term. It no longer mattered to the believers what Washington and the other Founding Fathers had said: what mattered was what the New Father of his country said.

FDR's Stand

And no one believed more firmly in this tenent of faith than FDR himself. Before the campaign of 1936, Ray Moley once told me, he went to see the President with a list of issues he had prepared. "The issues?" Mr. Roosvelt said scornfully. "I am the issues." Just so had Louis XIV said, "I am the state."

And suddenly we were divided into two armed camps of the faithful and the unbelievers, with any fraternization strictly taboo. It took World War II to put us on speaking terms again and restore even a token of the old kindliness.

But now there is another heresy test: you must accept in full, without any mental reservation, the United Nations and any stand it takes, no matter how unwise that seems, no matter how abhorrent to your moral code. That is the official state religion, and you are either a true believer or a filthy atheist.

If Nikita's Smart 2a

If the poisoned arrows are already flying, don't let anybody tell you the faithful haven't let go of their full share. They may fight on the side of the angels but they can use the devil's own weapons with cunning and skill. And they seem to have an enormous stockpile, too.

If Nikita is half the smart cookie I think he is, not a megaton-bomb will he waste, not a Russian soldier will he risk. The bitterest wars in h i s t o r y, he knows full well, are the civil wars, hot or cold; and he will be content to sit by while we destroy ourselves before he steps in to pick up the pieces.

Looking Backward

Letter From a Wisconsin Soldier

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Jan. 2, 1861.

(A letter from the First Wisconsin Regiment Volunteers, stationed at Camp Wood, Munfordsville, Ky.)

Dec. 21 — This is my first opportunity for resuming my correspondence, and even now am obliged to write while stationed south of Green River, on the reserve of our pickets.

Our forces have three companies of artillery here now — Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania and I believe one from Indiana. These companies have six pieces each, from six to eighteen-pounders, mortars and howitzers for throwing shells.

Our i n f a n t r y consists of brigades u n d e r Gens. Negley, Rousseau, Wood, Johnson and McCook. The latter has command of this division under Gen. Buell. The whole force, including a company of cavalry, consists of from 20,000 to 30,000 men. Another force, about 10,000, now is station at Bacon Creek, eight miles from here, among which is the Wisconsin Tenth, expected to arrive here soon.

A report brought in about noon, stated that 50 to 70 rebel pickets were in sight on a hill two miles from here. Col. Starkweather immediately sent out Company B, under Capt. Mitchell, with orders to reinforce our pickets and to hold their position unless compelled to retire by a very superior force. We have not heard from them up to this time — 4 p.m.

Under the Capitol Dome

Democrats Disturbed About Their Future

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The attentive listener in the haunts of Wisconsin politician cannot fail to notice the tendency toward pessimism t h a t prevails in the Wisc o n s i n Democrat i c party as a new elect i o n y e a r approaches.

Wyngaard

Half a dozen times during the last week this reporter chatted with Democrats having comparatively obvious ambitions, and encountered the same theme.

"It doesn't seem that it is going to be a good year for Democrats," was the sentiment, in almost exactly the s a m e words each time.

Thier names are not important here, but there are two young Democratic politic i a n s whose names would be quite widely recognized who have been thinking about running for a respectably important state office.

One of them has changed his mind, and the other is now gravely concerned about whether he ought to take the chance in view of what he is hearing from his friends.

WHY?

It is a strange thing, in a party that came up quickly and convincingly in state affairs during a few years, and which for the most part is led by young men who tend to be more daring and cheerful about such matters than their usual Republican adversaries.

As a guess, one reason may be contagion. The swelling confidence of the Republicans has become so apparent, throughout the state, that it apparently has had a depressing effect upon Democrats. The prospect of a highly competitive Republican nomination contest for such offices as governor, for example, has left a deep impression upon Democrats who know that two years ago the Republican nomination practically went begging and that two years before that many Republicans sat on their hands because they didn't like their ticket.

There also is a good deal of gloom about the way the tax fight has gone in the Nelson administration. The thoughtful Democrats know that the issue could not be avoided. But they also are aware that it was a costly thing. The insistent, repetitious and tiresome publicity about taxation has blurred, if it has not obscured altogether, all other identifiable deeds of the two term Democratic administration.

There also are Democrats who do not tend to be thoughtful. All that they know is that they have given up what they regarded as the sure - fire sales tax campaign club in their districts. They regard saving the governor's conscience as a distinctly bad bargain, the price they are paying being so painfully dear.

OTHER FACTORS

Democrats worry about what they see as a resurgence of conservatism abroad. The condemn and ridicule the radical right, as they call it. But they do not delude themselves, nevertheless. The radical right won't vote Democratic, whatever it does, and if the Democrats can be taken at their word, it is growing in confidence, vigor and numbers.

Washington reporters are writing that returning congressmen discovered during the congressional recess that President Kennedy is popular. Maybe, say some Wisconsin Democrats. But he wasn't much help to us last fall, when he lost the state by what was a convincing margin under the circumstance.

The studious Democrat, and even those who are not especially studious but have a sensible instinct for self-preservation, know something about historical trends. Anybody who ever has studied the election returns and played with election maps, as the politicians do in their spare time, knows that Wisconsin has a Republic a n tradition.

Urbanization, better Democratic party organization, bett e r candidates, have changed the historical pattern in recent elections.

But is the change a lasting one? Whatever he says in his pep rallies and to his own campaign s u p p o r t e r s as he puts them in harness for a new campaign year, the typical Democrat has some d i s t u r b i n g doubts.

Employers Can't Bar Older Workers

CHICAGO (AP) — Over forty now is no bar to job seekers in fifteen states.

Commerce Clearing House reports that California and Ohio enacted laws this year that prohibit employers from discriminating against workers because of age.

Alaska, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Montana, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode island, Washington and Wisconsin are the other states with laws.

Most of the laws specify the nondiscriminatory age bracket embracing the years between 40 and normal retirement of 65 or less.

Air Curtain to Replace Walls in New Building

NEW YORK (AP) — The first building under construction for the 1964-65 World's F a i r will have no walls.

The building's translucent roof will be supported by stilts. Instead of walls, there will be air curtains consisting of jets of air blown from openings in the roof

The building will house the gas industry exhibit. Officials of Gas, Inc., the company formed by the industry to plan and construct the building, say the air curtain will be strong enough to keep out inclement weather and to keep in air-conditioned air.

Another feature of the building will be a moving platform that will pick up visitors at the entrance and carry them past displays of new and projected uses of gas in homes and industry, officials say.

Town Carries on Old Traditions

Bryan, Ohio (AP) — W h e n Bryan's civic band gives weekly outdoor concerts in Courthouse Park each summer, it's carrying on a century-old tradition. So is Dale Connin, the director.

The band was formed in 1852, when the community was only 12 years old. And the present director is a grandson of J o h n Cronin, the band's founder.

Travel Expected of U. S. Presidents Since 'Era of Isolationism' Ended

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's gotten so that if an American president stayed home he'd look like a snob.

In the past 11 months President Kennedy has received at least 30 visits from foreign heads of state and prime ministers, plus scores of ambassadors, and has made several foreign visits himself.

There are four good reasons for this back-and-forth business:

End of Isolationism

Truly fast travel; end of isolationism and new, close ties with other countries; abandonment of the idea that only a president's subordinates should dabble in diplomacy and Premier Khrushchev himself.

It would have taken President James Madison about 2½ months —allowing two weeks for a look-around—if he had wanted to visit the 1815 Congress of Vienna in those days of sail and coach.

That would be too long for any president to be away. But Kennedy could get to Vienna now in less than 11 hours by jet.

Once this country moved out of its historic isolation—with World War II—it began moving in the exact opposite direction. Now it is tied to nations around the world by military alliances and foreign aid.

This has created a community interest which this country never shared in before and makes it natural for all the big wigs involved to visit one another and talk shop.

In the long history of American isolationism it was routine for American presidents — with the brief exception of Wilson and until Franklin D. Roosevelt — to stay home and let their secretaries of state and ambassadors do the direct dealing with other governments.

There was no reason why they shouldn't have stayed home: the United States' policy was to be aloof.

War Ends Era

The war ended that. The British and Russian foreign secretaries were nobodies in the wake of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin. Time was short, events momentous. So Roosevelt dealt with them in person.

He made some memorable trips abroad to do so. President Harry S. Truman began the foundation of military alliances and foreign aid which President Dwight D. Eisenhower inherited. This led in time to exchange of visits, but for one particular reason above all Premier Khrushchev made personal diplomacy a way of life for a head of government. He said the foreign ministers were messenger boys, who could handle the grimy details after the top men made agreements.

But, he said, only the top men could get things done. Eisenhower would have looked negative or self-conscious if he had refused to meet the Russian.

Stodgy Diplomacy

The fact that his summit meeting with Khrushchev produced no successes has been pointed to by those who want a return to the stodgy diplomacy of the past as a reason why presidents should stay home.

But that summit meeting can't be called a failure. It would have been amazing if, in one brief meeting, the world's ills could have been healed.

So far Kennedy, who met Khrushchev in Vienna last June, has not had to go into lengthy negotiations on any of his foreign trips. No doubt he will in time.

That he will continue to make visits abroad—given new times and new problems—seems inevitable.

Rusk Critical

Dean Rusk in 1960, which was before he became Kennedy's secretary of state, took a dim view of personal negotiations or summit meetings by a president. He suggested the job should be done by professionals.

Kennedy, who dominates both Rusk and American foreign policy seems to think differently. He doesn't act like a man who wants someone else to do his talking for him.

And, since his visitors would still continue to pour on him, he'd have to return some of them with trips abrad, even if he didn't negotiate at all.

Thomson Statement

Congressman Opposes Kennedy Trade Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R-Wis., said that he doubts that Congress will give President Kennedy the broad new reciprocal trade powers he is expected to request.

The reciprocal trade agreements act will expire next June 30. Kennedy not only wants it extended, he wants increased authority in administering the law.

The administration proposal is to give the President authority to reduce tariffs across the board rather than item by item. The president now is limited to cutting tariffs by 20 per cent. Kennedy wants this increased to 50 per cent. He also is asking for other changes.

He's Opposed

Thomson said he will oppose the administration approach and he believes that the legislation finally approved will be closer to the present act than the Kennedy proposal.

"Just in my congressional district alone, we have rubber mills, woolen products, lead and zinc mines and fur raising," Thomson said. "These would all be hurt if the administration proposal is passed.

"My district is made up of small communities and farms The loss of even a few jobs would be a tragedy in these small communities."

Not High

The United States, he said, is not a high tariff nation even now. "The tariffs in the last 20 years have been slashed unmercifully," he said.

Thomson said the death of Speaker Sam Rayburn will make it more difficult to pass the new reciprocal trade legislation in the house. He said he has serious doubts that Rep. John McCormack, D-Mass., who is expected to be the new speaker, will be able to rally key votes needed on such issues as this one.

"This whole reciprocal trade philosophy involves many new concepts," Thomson said. "One concept is that this country will embark on a relief and welfare program for workers who are displaced by imports.

Help Workers

"I would rather stimulate our own industries rather than help workers when they are hurt. I want to keep them gainfully employed in this country."

Thomson said he does not believe the United States can maintain its standard of living and its gross national product under the administration's tariff proposal.

"I do not like the concept of sacrificing American workers to countries which are so far below our standard of living and wage scale," he said.

Army Employee Given Honor

Head of Appleton Project Office Cited for Duty

Ross R. Plainse, 1112 E. Frances St., has earned a $200 award and a sustained superior performance award for his work in the Appleton project office of the Chicago Army Engineer District.

Plainse became chief of the Appleton office in April, 1959, when Fred L. Johns retired. Previously Plainse had served three years as civil engineer in the Fox River field office of the Chicago district.

A graduate of the University of Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, Plainse also was connected for some time with the former Milwaukee Army Engineer District, serving first as an engineer aid, later as a supervisory civil engineer.

Did Rehabilitation

During Plainse's tenure in charge of the local office, the locks and dams along the Fox River have required extensive maintenance and rehabilitation. In addition, he has handled the program of rehabilitating the Upper Fox River locks and dams.

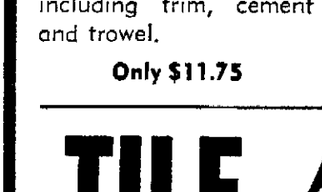

"In this work, Plainse displayed the highest order of accomplishment," his citation read. "His superior efforts in directing and supervising the channel maintenance program has guaranteed maximum public use of the channels for recreational navigation, gaining considerable prestige for the Corps of Engineers."

Fishes' Tastes Aren't All That Expensive

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)— Bill Joines forgot to bring along his fishing pole when he went on a fishing trip on the North Platte river near here.

Company Asks To Buy Indian Utility Property

Power, Light Firm Plans to Serve Menominee County

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—The Wisconsin Power and Light Co. will take over electric utility service in the town and county of Menominee, if the public service commission approves a plan worked out by the corporation and Menominee Enterprises, Inc., the cooperative that holds the properties of the former Menominee Indian tribe.

The commission has announced here that it will hold public hearing on the proposal to buy the properties of the Menominee corporation for $100,000. The hearing will be held at the Municipal building in Keshena on Jan. 25.

Filed for Authority

The cooperative had filed for authority to operate as a utility, following the termination of the status of the community as an Indian tribe, but that proposal is being deferred pending the consideration of the sale plan.

The private company has informed the commission that it would put into effect its standard electric rates and rules, in the town and county of Menominee, if the sale of the property is authorized.

The utility company owns electric facilities including a transmission line extending north from Shawano to the neighborhood of Keshena and Neopit in Menominee County and now serves Menominee Enterprises, Inc.

The company furnishes power to the Neopit saw-mill, which also gets part of its power from a hydro-electric plant operated by the cooperative. Under the plan, the utility company would lease a hydro plant at Keshena from the tribal cooperative.

St. Norbert College Reports Operating Loss

West DePere School Lists $4,124 Deficit

Increased expenses and income with an operating loss of $4,124 were reported by St. Norbert College, West De Pere, for the fiscal year which ended on June 30.

Total expenditures of the year were $1,295,618 which is 14 per cent higher than last year's record figure of $1,134,160. Total income was $1,291,494. Added to the $4,124 operating deficit are additional disbursements totalling $206,593 which were made from the development fund. The major item was a $183,893 expenditure for remodelling Boyle Hall, the main classroom building on the campus.

Union Added

High on the list of college assets is the $4,839,367 listed as land, buildings and equipment. The new memorial union added more than $850,000 to this figure.

St. Norbert annually ranks among the top three private co-educational liberal arts colleges in Wisconsin not associated with a university. The 1960-61 enrollment of credit students was 1,073, not including auditors, evening summer school students. The total number of students attending classes in all categories was more than 1,600. In June, degrees were given 135 graduates.

Faculty expansion since the initiation of the excellence program has resulted in a growth to 77 members, including 44 lay men or women, 31 Norbertine priests and two Sisters. Six new lay faculty members were added this year. Doctors degrees are now held by 35 per cent of the full-time teachers, and the majority of the others hold master's degrees, the booklet stated.

Although St. Norbert College places special emphasis on the traditional liberal arts for a degree, some fields of specialized training are offered. Each department is urged to require at least 60 per cent of its program in the liberal arts.

The innovations of an Honors Program, the Languagc Laboratory and the German Center are mentioned as signiifcant academic accomplishments of the past year.

13 Drown, 63 Rescued After Launch Sinks

MANILA (AP)—The Philippine constabulary reported Tuesday that 13 persons drowned in the sinking of the motor launch Baby Anita off Mindanao Saturday. Sixty-three were rescued. Five are still missing.

The constabulary said the vessel was overloaded when swamped by waves in Panguil Bay.

Avoid Overtaxing Lungs if You Have Bronchiectasis

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain bronchiectasis. Can it become cancerous?

"I am a housewife, 49 years old. I am very nervous and smoke a pack of cigarettes a day. For years I have had a very bad cough, and last May had bronchitis. From then on I did not feel up to par but kept going.

Molner

"Last August I was hospitalized after a sudden spasm of coughing up blood, and was told I have bronchiectasis. I have tried to stop smoking, but my nerves get so taut that I am a wreck, although I have cut down some. — R. M. C."

First of all, discard your worries about it becoming cancerous It's trouble enough without inventing additional ones that have no basis.

Bronchiectasis is a dilation of the bronchial passages. It extends down to the tip ends of these air passages More often than not there will be infection Sometimes this results as an aftermath of tuberculosis, pneumonia or other lung diseases, sometimes it evidently starts independently Recent studies of the disease indicate that it usually has its beginnings much earlier in life than we used to think — then we regarded it mostly as a chronic ailment of middle-aged or older people Now we are modifying that idea

Chronic Condition

Anyway, it's a chronic condition, not a disease that runs its course in a short time or will yield to a specific "cure"

The dilated areas are traps for phlegm If abscesses are present, sputum may be evil-smelling The patient coughs—and may cough up blood. (Bronchiectasis is the commonest cause for bloody sputum.) It naturally interferes with breathing. Loss of weight, loss of appetite, fever, fatigue are principal and continuing symptoms in many cases. It is not a disease which ordinarily is an immediate threat to life, but it makes life much less enjoyable.

In some cases the affliction is limited to one lung, or to a part of it, and in such instances surgical removal of part or all of the lung is helpful. It is, in fact, a cure.

Remember not to be misled by the popular idea that the "bronchial tubes" are just tubes that "lead to the lungs." They are part of the lungs, and this disease can affect the lowermost areas of the lungs.

Control of infection, good general health habits, avoidance of anything that overtaxes or irritates the afflicted lungs — these are the important aspects of treatment. So need I add that giving up smoking is very important? "Taut nerves" are not an adequate excuse when the smoking is going to aggravate the condition which you are battling

Doctor's Help

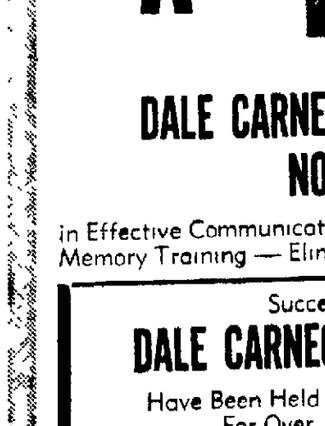

"Dear Dr Molner I am losing seven of my fingernails What is the cause and what would you suggest I do for them? — M H"

I'd suggest that you take your fingers to your doctor at once I am happy to advise patients on what they can do for themselves but I also insist that there is positively no substitute for asking your doctor to diagnose troubles before you can find cures This is not a common occurrence

MRS M M S No, there is no blood test that will "show up cancer anywhere in the body," in the sense of pointing a finger to the spot There are special tests, especially in the enzyme area, that may hint that something is wrong Other procedures are necessary, however — examination, history, X-ray, biopsy and the like

Dr Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters Dr Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible

Man's Bulge Makes Police Suspicious

NEW HAVEN Conn (AP) — Local policemen don't think young men should have bulging waistlines

They arrested a 28-year - old man who was 'too young to be that fat" and relieved him of the four dresses he had been carrying around his waist since stealing them from a backyard clothesline

Our Children

Right Questions Bring Answers

BY ANGELO PATRI

"What did you do in school today?"

"Nothing."

"Nothing? You mean to say you just sat there and did nothing? You must have done something."

The school child usually doesn't know what to say next. Plainly he will be in the wrong if he persists in saying, "Nothing," and he will be equally wrong if he keeps still, which he is inclined to do.

In the average school the younger children do only what the teacher says and take it for granted. They, of their own, did nothing. They have a notion that "doing something" means doing something "bad."

It is good to get the children to talk about what they did in school and they will if they are asked the kind of question they can answer. Make it definite. "What did you do in arithmetic this morning? What lessons did you read today? What game did you play at recess?"

Most children will be able to say something definite when asked this sort of question, and a parent gets some idea of what is going on.

Save for Evening

When a parent gets definite answers to definite questions about what a child goes in school, he is in a better position to help his child and to cooperate with the teacher. It takes home and teacher together to do the best work where a school child is concerned. But do ask the sort of question that the child can answer.

The supper table is not the place for such questions. They are far too likely to stir emotional answers on both sides, and when a mother prepares a fine meal for her family, it is too bad to spoil it by upsetting somebody. Keep the school matters until after dinner when everybody is feeling comfortable.

New Book Has Bridge Problems

Ewart Kempson, editor of an English bridge magazine, gets out a collection of bridge problems every few years. His latest (Pocket Book of Bridge Problems) shows you your own hand and the dummy in 70 examples that should puzzle and please perceptive players.

Perhaps North's jump to six notrump is an overbid, but it is just a compliment to your ability to play the cards well. (You are South, so don't let your partner down.) If North bid only five no trump, you would go on to six anyway. The contract is very sound.

If you met this hand at the table you might throw the slam out of the window before you realized that there was a problem. You might be tempted to win the first trick in dummy and lead the jack of diamonds for a finesse.

This play would limit you to three dimand tricks. West would three diamond tricks. West would the queen, and you would win diamond tricks only with the ace, king and ten.

Need Four Diamonds

Since you need four diamond tricks for the slam, you should look for a play that will work even against a bad diamond break. Any play will work against a 3-2 or 4-1 break, so you should consider only the possibility that one opponent has all five diamonds.

Win the first heart trick in your own hand and lead a low diamond toward dummy. If West has all five diamonds, what can he do?

Whenever West decides to take the queen, you can win the other four tricks with the ace and king in your own hand and dummy's jack and ten. If West plays low, you win in dummy with the ten and return to your hand with a club to lead another low diamond. You are then sure to win four diamond tricks.

How will this play work if it turns out that the five diamonds are with East instead of West. You win the first heart and lead a low diamond to the jack, and East wins with the queen. Later, you can win a diamond in dummy with the ten and return a diamond to finesse through the nine. You still make your slam.

The Ailing House

Plastic Can Be Made to Hold Paint

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a yellow plastic waste basket and toilet brush holder. Is there any paint available that I can use to change the color?—Milwaukee, Wis.

A: Yes. Vinyl plastic sprays, in a wide assortment of colors, are available at many housewares and paint dealers; they give excellent results when applied to plastic. Or use any good quality latex paint.

Cleaning Asbestos

Q: How can outside asbestos shingles be cleaned? What material should be used? My shingles are black with some foreign substance.—Milwaukee, Wis.

A: Asbestos shingles can be washed with a solution of one-half cup of trisodium phosphate in a gallon of hot water, followed by liberal rinsing with clear water. Be sure to start at the bottom of the walls, and work upward; otherwise, streaking will result which is very difficult to remove. Try brushing off as much of the "foreign substance" as possible with a brush first.

Musty Odors

Q: Musty odors come through the floor in the part of the house over a crawl space where there is no cellar. The house is about two feet above ground level, another two feet were dug out, so that the crawl space is actually about four feet. There are three openings at the bottom of the house, about two feet square, for ventilation. The ground under the house is very dry and crumbles. But I found mildew under the subflooring and around the edges of joists on which the floor rests. How to remedy this? What is the cause? The condition started a few months ago and is getting worse. — Buffalo, N. Y.

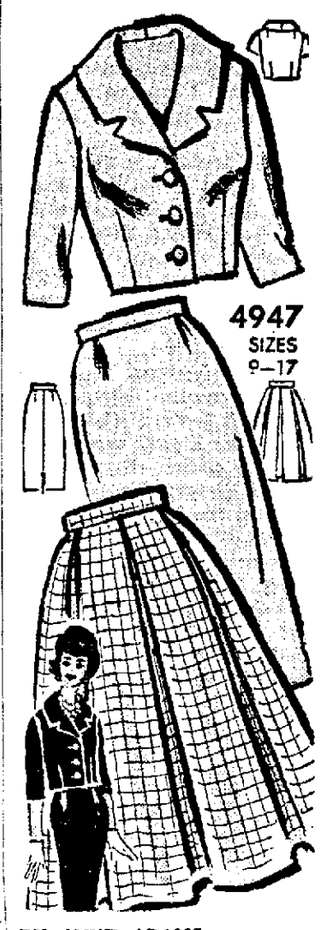

A: From your letter, I assume you have a finished basement under part of your house and no mildew problem in it. Crawl spaces require adequate air circulation and ventilation; this being provided by ventilating openings in each wall with a total opening area of one square foot for each 300 square feet of crawl space ground area. Besides, to prevent the rise of ground moisture no matter how dry the ground seems, a covering should be put down directly on the ground either overlapping sheets of polyethylene plastic or heavy moisture and vapor proof building paper, sealing the seams with roofing cement. Have you checked the foundation walls to be sure there are no cracks or breaks permitting water seepage?

Remove the present mildew by scrubbing affected surfaces with a stiff brush and a warm detergent solution, followed by an application of a chlorine bleach solution (allow to remain on surface about five minutes), and thorough rinsing. Then apply an odorless wood preservative preparation, available at most hardware and paint dealers, as well as building supplies dealers. I suggest sending 30 cents (no stamps) to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, 25. D. C., for a copy of "Condensation Control," containing specific remedies and treatment for problem.

Your Problems

Girl Seeks Hidden Motives in Man's Sudden Change of Mind

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: While waiting for a bus on a nasty morning three years ago one of the handsomest men in our neighborhood gave me a lift right to my office door.

Landers

I've enjoyed his scintillating company these past three years and have saved well over $200 in bus fare. It was too good to last. The bolt from the blue went like this:

"My dear, I've enjoyed your beauty and your conversation for a long time. I'm afraid, however, the animal is beginning to gnaw upon the man. Lest this phase of the foolish forties leads me to irresponsible behavior I'd prefer to confine my offer of transportation to days of inclement weather only."

Now, Ann, this man sails by me every morning and waves. I don't know if I should admire him or heave a brick through his windshield. Is there a possibility that he was fishing for an interesting proposal from me?—Curbed

Dear Curbed: Not only is it possible, Buttercup, but it's so doggone likely that I'd bet my typewriter ribbon on it.

The next time there's a tree-falling storm and the neighborhood pin-up boy offers you a ride shout "No thanks — the weather isn't inclement enough."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is my second marriage. My first husband gave me a beautiful diamond engagement ring. It has no sentimental value but it's a gorgeous stone.

My present husband gave me a beautiful diamond wedding band. It goes perfectly with the ex's engagement ring. My husband doesn't want me to wear the former husband's ring under any conditions. I've offered to have it re-set and he says "No, he bought it for you and I don't want you to wear it."

I've thought of having it made into a pin or a pendant but I seldom wear that type of jewelry. I suppose I could sell it but if I did I'd never be able to own a stone like this again. You decide, Ann.—Riverside

Dear Riverside: Sell the ring and get it out of your life. Of what value is a diamond if this second marriage goes down the drain? Since you know it's a source of irritation, get smart and unload it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother is a great fan of yours. I read your column regularly, too, but I don't always agree with your advice. I do agree with what you say about going steady, though.

I first went steady when I was 15. It lasted 11 months. After a while Jeff and I could almost read each other's minds. It got so boring I gave up. I felt as if I had been let out of jail. I didn't know there were so many interesting fellows in the world until I got free of Jeff.

Now my folks say I am going out with too many different guys. They don't like it. My father says it's bad for a girl's reputation. I need your opinion.—Escaped

Dear Escaped: Variety is the spice of life but make sure it doesn't get too spicy.

So long as your parents meet every fellow you date (insist that they call for you at home) and if you respect your parents' curfew, I see nothing wrong in dating several young men.

Irene Gilbert designs one of the year's most charming suits that can cruise straight from Christmas to Southern holidays as successfully as it goes to town for a day's shopping in any season. The jacket, tapered gradually inward toward the hipbone, is beautifully detailed with channel seaming along the shoulder yoke and front darts. This same treatment is repeated on the front panel of the slim high-rise skirt. You'll welcome the size advantage of separating patterns for jacket and skirt. Suggested fabrics are lightweight wool, suiting linen or cotton, faille, shantung or wild silk. From these corresponding body measurements, select the one size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to that used for better ready-to-wear.

Punch Bowl Symbol of Hospitality

The holidays are the time to keep the punch bowl full, to revive the spirit of the English Yuletide when the flowing bowl was as much a symbol of the season as were the carol singers.

This is a time when friends drop in informally and the punch bowl reflects the hospitality of the house.

Unfortunately, rings left by glasses will leave a permanent impression on many surfacing materials. The way to avoid this is to place your punch bowl on a table covered with a stainproof material.

Having your punch bowl area established, here's a family recipe for a punch that's easily made and will add to your holiday cheer.

SUNSET PUNCH

Two number 2½ cans apricot halves
One quart orange juice
1½ cups lemon juice
½ cup lime juice
1 cup powdered sugar
Four quarts chilled sparkling water
Large blocks of ice

Sieve apricots with juice; combine with other fruit juices and sugar. When serving add sparkling water, pour over ice. Makes 50 servings before adding ice.

Win Rotary Printing Press By Entering This Contest

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's puzzle contest for boys and girls is as easy as pie to enter. What's more, the five big national prizes offered are truly exciting. They are giant size superior rotary printing press outfits with which any boy or girl can become a printer and publisher. The equipment includes not only the all-metal Superior press, but 600 pieces of rubber type, a supply of paper and ink, headings and pictres to print, a 16-page Idea and Instruction Book, plus other essentials. Five of these outfits will be given away in today's contest.

To qualify for a chance to win one of the printing presses, you must win a local prize. This will be a "Crazy Butterfly," that, when hidden beneath a napkin or in a book, will greatly surprise an unsuspecting friend who moves the napkin or opens the book. The butterfly will fly out and flutter into the air. It can be used again and again.

If you win a "Crazy Butterfly" (5 will be awarded to boys and girls of this area), your contest entry is automatically placed in competition with local prize winners from all other cities where this column is published. The judges will select the five neatest entries that are the most original in preparation as winners of the Superior Rotary Printing Presses.

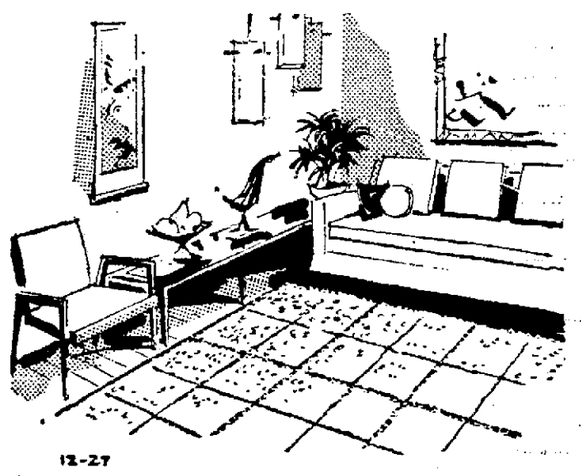

To enter the contest, just clip out the names and pictures of the nuts in the drawing above, rearrange them so the nuts and names are correctly paired and paste them that way on a sheet of paper or a postal card. Print your name, age and address on the entry card. Decorate it as neatly as you can in any original way, using paints, crayons or other suitable materials. Finally address it to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names and addresses of the prize winners will be published here and their awards will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become the property of Cappy Dick and none can be returned.

Long Low Table

Long coffee tables seem to be on the move lately, when they're replaced by smaller individual tables, and sometimes just to change the room arrangement. Mrs. V. T. has one that's the full length of her extra length sofa, and asks where to put it since she's tired of seeing it fence in anyone who sits down near the sofa center.

The very long table here takes an extra-handy end table position, Mrs. T., where it's still reachable from one side of the sofa and also from a chair. It ties the chair and sofa together companionable, and is part of the smart decorating of the wall. Decorative objects as well as useful ones locate handsomely on the table, and it could take a cushion when additional seating is needed. Other ideas for the table might place it at the end of a bed, or make it a bench for the hall.

Mrs. A. B.: "Our small bathroom has lower walls in gray tile with a wine colored trim, and a gray tiled floor with squares of the wine. The upper walls are painted gray, but I can't say I like the effect. Shower curtains, towels and the rug are now pink, and I don't want to change them to the wine color. What do you think of towels shaded pink to red, and a red rug?"

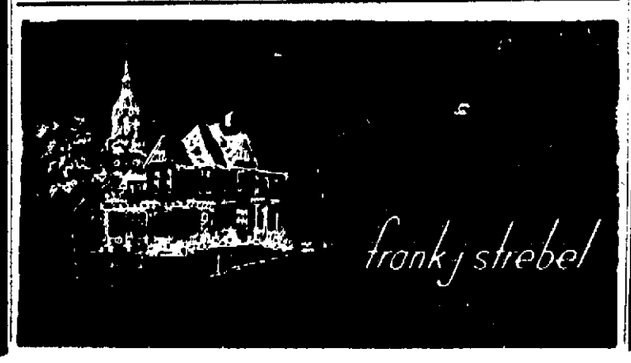

A leading decorator recently schemed a bathroom with a background like yours with towels in pink and red, with the red predominating, and added just one in wine to the assortment of large towels. One rack had as many terry finger towels as it would hold in the same colors, again with one wine towel. The pink, of course, was carefully chosen to shade into the red and wine. Your plan would be improved with restrained addition of the wine color to relate tiles of that color. The upper walls must be gray to give the room the simplified background it needs.

Mrs. W. McD.: "My husband insists on plain colored draperies so our new ones for the living room will be a pale gold color to match the walls. Pattern seems to be so much in style now I'd like to use to slipcover some of the furniture and would like suggestions. The sofa is rose-beige, two lounge chairs are bright deep green, a small upholstered chair is in beige tapestry with other faint colors in small figures, and a modernized wing chair is rose."

Choose a fabric which repeats the green and a little gold on a white background, or one that patterns the green and white on a gold background. Use if for slipcovers for the sofa and both the beige tapestry and the rose chair.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

OFFENSE TO HOSTS

A couple invited us to their home for dinner four days in advance of the date. Since my husband's work requires him to have so many of his meals in restaurants, we looked forward to a simple and relaxing meal and evening in our friends' home. In the early afternoon of the day in question, our hostess telephoned to inform us without reason that they decided to take us out to dine instead. I explained that I did not feel up to dining in public that particular evening and I politely suggested that we postpone it. We have always catered to their plans whether or not it was to our liking and now we realize that they are offended. Did I do right or should I have ignored my own thoughts and accepted the invitation?

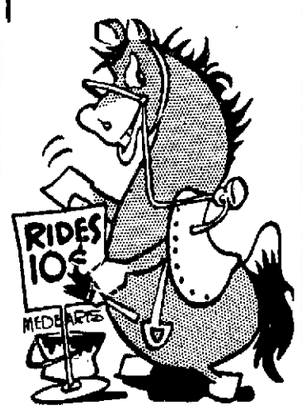

Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

I'm afraid that you overstepped with your suggestion of postponing the dinner. Your friends were being host and hostess at dinner which was to be a social occasion whether it was to be at their home or somewhere else. Enjoying each other's company was all that mattered whether you were to dine at home, in a restaurant, hotel or hamburger counter. The switch in locale was unimportant. It is possible that your hostess didn't feel up to preparing a dinner and it was equally possible that she preferred to give you and her husband her undivided attention and thought it would be more fun for all to let somebody else do the cooking and serving. You had a moral obligation to follow through with the altered plans. What you conveyed was this, "We don't want to dine out. Please invite us some other time when dinner can be at your home."

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. My daughter got a pony for Christmas. How do we take care of him? Cody Thompson, Glendale, Wash.

A. A pony may represent a sizeable investment. Your veterinarian should examine it. Make sure the pony is not too much for your child to handle. He will need a shed or stable to protect him from cold and warm bedding, straw or shavings. He needs an ample supply of fresh, clean water placed where it will not freeze in the coldest weather. Plain crimped oats of good quality are often better food than a high priced mixture. Clean hay, preferably timothy, should be available to the pony at all times. The stall should be at least 12 feet by 12 feet. If you can provide an exercise area of 2,000 square feet, the pony will appreciate it. Don't put every child in the neighborhood on the pony for it will tire him too much.

Millions Live In Christmas Wilderness

Rev. Simon Says God's Word Saves From Spiritual Death

"Strange as it may sound, it is possible for us in our land of plenty, and at this most plentiful season of the year, to be living in a Christmas wilderness'," said the Rev. H. E. Simon at Faith Lutheran Church Monday morning.

Rev. Simon

"Millions of Americans are living in a Christmas Wilderness," he state in the two special Christmas festival services. He took as his theme "God's Voice in the Christmas Wilderness," based on the Biblical report of John the Baptist's activities.

"John the Baptist was doing his preaching in a physical wilderness of sand and wind," he explained, "but this wasn't the real danger to the people who came to hear him. You can protect yourself from sand and wind. The real danger lay in the wilderness inside the people—the wilderness of spiritual drought, afflicting them because they had not yet tasted of the water of life which God had sent them."

Voice of God

"Into this spiritual wilderness came the voice of God by means of the message of John," he said. "And then one day God's Voice in that wilderness became charged with excitement. John had caught sight of Jesus walking forward. 'Behold!' John told the people. 'Behold! the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world!'

"This, above all else, was the message those people needed to hear out there in that wilderness," the Rev. Mr. Simon emphasized, "for only by following this message could they find salvation from spiritual death."

The Lutheran pastor pointed out that these basic spiritual facts never change. "By far most of the world's people are in spiritual wildernesses," he said, "simply because they do not know Jesus Christ. Millions of our own fellow Americans are in a Christmas wilderness during these days.

All a Mirage

"They make much commotion about Christmas, involving a lot of noise and ever-so-much activity, but it is all a mirage on the desert of what they call their Christmas. The bright and loud outside activity tragically covers up an empty and lonely spiritual starvation on the inside! The utter need in today's Christmas Wilderness is for the Voice of God!"

"How can we make sure that we hear it? And how can we help others to hear it?" he asked. The answer lies in the simple example of John the Baptist, who understood himself and understood the purpose of Christ's coming, he suggested.

"If you and I want to be saved from spiritual wilderness we must do as John did," the Rev. Mr. Simon said. "We must ask ourselves with utter honesty: 'Who are thou?' And we must take our answer from the only one who knows, from God Himself, and from His Holy Ten Commandments, which He has given us as the spiritual mirror in which we may see ourselves. As we look into this divine mirror we see ourselves as we really are. We don't deserve God's Voice in our spiritual wilderness."

Spiritual Wilderness

"But unless we honestly admit and confess our sinfulness we won't hear that saving voice, either, for only if we know our sinfulness will we understand that we are in a spiritual wilderness, needing God's help to get out," he said. "On the other hand, once we see ourselves as the spiritually undeserving creatures we are —once we realize we cannot help ourselves—then, by the grace of God, we are made ready to listen to God's voice in our spiritual wilderness."

"And so it is that this Christmas day, and every other day, too, you and I, above all, need to hear this Voice of God as it speaks to us today from the pages of Holy Writ, bringing to us the soul-saving message: 'Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world!' " he said.

"You can't get out of the Christmas Wilderness by staying at Bethlehem," concluded the Rev. Mr. Simon. "You've got to go from the cradle to the cross! The only road out is the cross-road!"

Aliens Must Report Addresses by Jan. 31

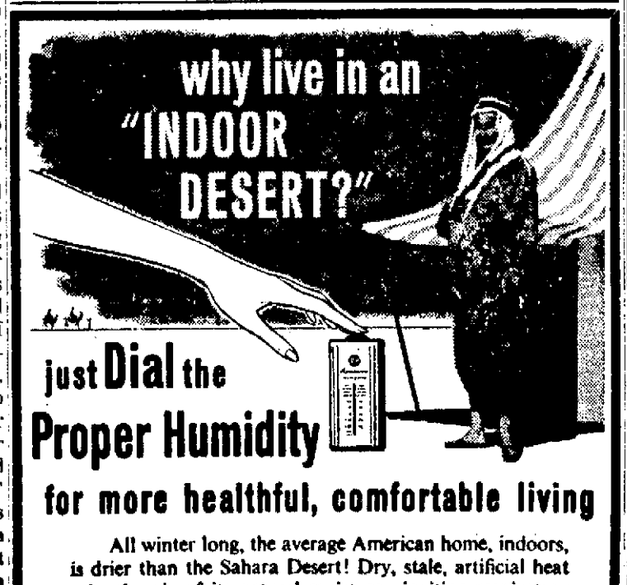

NEENAH — Aliens living in the United States must make their annual reports of addresses by Jan. 31, reminds Richard L. Webb, officer in charge of the Milwaukee U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service office.

All non-citizens in the United States on Jan. 1 must make the reports. Exceptions are accredited diplomats, persons accredited to certain international organizations and migrant farm workers. Forms for reporting addresses may be secured at post offices. Failure to file the forms can lead to heavy penalties.

Convictions Give Way to Expediency

Kennedy Afraid To Issue Order On Discrimination

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Orators for decades have been extolling "principles" and "honest convictions," but certain news dispatches out of Washington recently give an impression that there are no such things nowadays. "Expediency" and what are termed "practical considerations" seem to be a controlling influence in making governmental policy.

Lawrence

Thus, the United Press International, in a dispatch a few days ago from Washington, said:

"An order by President Kennedy prohibiting racial and religious discrimination in federally assisted housing has been shelved for the time being, it was learned yesterday.

"It will not be issued until after the 1962 congressional session and possibly not until after the November elections, highly placed administration sources said. Chief reason the president is postponing the order is that it would antagonize Southern Democrats in Congress whose votes he sorely needs in the coming session.

Tenuous Prospects

"Defection of Southern Democrats could wipe out the already tenuous prospects for passage of tax revision, medical care and tariff-cutting bills. One Capitol Hill observer explained that with many Southern Democrats more conservative than Mr. Kennedy and reluctant about his legislative program, his issuance of an anti-discrimination executive order would be 'just like waving a red flag in front of them. The White House just isn't in a position to alienate anybody.' "

This is a tragic emphasis on elements that sometimes govern decisions on the so-called political front. It seems incredible that there should be such reasoning, and even more incredible that it should be so frankly avowed. It would be easier to believe that the postponement of the order was not prompted by any such motive but stemmed possibly from the fear by some of the building and construction people that its issuance could slow up recovery in that field of the economy.

Material considerations are often more persuasive than adherence to principle or conviction when controversial questions are up for settlement in the inner precincts of government. But it is surprising to find high officials hesitant to issue an order on the subject of racial discrimination when such ardent support has been given in recent months by the administration to the "civil rights" agitators. Maybe there will soon be a group of "freedom riders" in front of the White House to help get this executive order off the shelf.

Hardly Heroic

For certainly if the federal government really has authority to take action under the so-called "law of the land" doctrine, then catering to fears of how this might annoy Southern congressmen would hardly seem to be heroic. One would think that convictions are worthy of fulfillment, whether in a year of congressional elections or in the months immediately afterward. It certainly doesn't reflect much confidence in the common sense or perspicacity of Southern congressmen to assume that they will gladly go along with the president's legislative program next spring on the dubious assumption that federally assisted housing will not be interfered with, only to discover a few months later that they have been duped by a political maneuver.

The federal order being discussed has no specific authorization in law, but it is based on the broad theory that the federal government can withhold support from any building operation for which it would normally spend or lend money if there is any racial or religious discrimination involved. The federal authority is being interpreted to mean also that federal commitments to guarantee mortgages can be cancelled if a builder in a new development refuses to accept the bid of a Negro to buy a house.

Doctrine Extended

The doctrine could be extended to cover tax exemptions, too, and any private club which engages in discrimination could, under penalty of losing its tax privilege, be coerced into opening its doors to all candidates. The proposed executive order, which is confined largely to new housing, also could affect indirectly many private mortgages. The same UPI dispatch, quoted above, adds:

"Whether the order should also ban discrimination in the making of home loans by federally regulated banks and savings and loan associations has not been decided by the White House. Failure to resolve that question was said to be a secondary reason the president has postponed issuance of the order."

One would think these are questions for the people's representatives in Congress to decide, and that law-making is still a function of the Senate and the House. But nowadays an "executive order" seems to be synonymous with "decree" or "edict." Maybe it's because too many congressmen are also fearful of political consequences if they become involved in voting on such issues, and they prefer to have the administration act on its own. "Honest convictions" seem to be obsolete.

Woman to Celebrate Silver Wedding on 34th Birthday

TREADWAY, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Charlie Johns will be 34 years old when she and her husband celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary next month.

"I'd do it all over again," said Johns, who was 22 when he married Eunice Winsted, 9, near this east Tennessee mountain town Jan. 19, 1937.

"I've never been sorry or regretted it," Johns told the Knoxville Journal in a copyright interview, the first Johns had granted in nine years. "She has always been as good to me as could be. She's a good mother and a good housekeeper."

Their marriage caused a national uproar and the Tennessee Legislature later made 16 the minimum age for marriage in the state.

Simple Living

The Johns have nine children. Eight still live on their 65-acre farm which provides a simple but ample living for the family. The oldest daughter, Evelyn, now 18, was married last year to John Henry Antrican. Charlie objected to the marriage at first, but later gave the couple his blessing.

"We get along together as good or better than other couples I know," Charlie said. "I guess she'd do it again if she had it to do over. I've never asked her that. She hasn't had it too bad, or any worse than folks we know.

"We don't go out much. I go to the store a couple of times a week and Eunice goes to the doctor now and then. That's about it. We don't dislike people; we just don't trust many of them."

He said his marriage and family life is "no one's business but ours, but it's okay to let them know how it turned out."

Train Passengers Set Record in Paris

PARIS (AP)—A record 644,000 train passengers left Paris for the Christmas season, mostly for mountain ski resorts.

Taxpayers Can Compute Rate On 1960 Forms

1961 Sheets Will Not be Available Until February

Presses will roll over the 1961 tax forms in Madison sometime next week, but copies will not be available to taxpayers until sometime in February, William Maass of the state department of taxation said today in Madison.

Bids for printing the forms have been let. The form has been tentatively designed and is awaiting approval of State Tax Commissioner John Gronouski.

Use Forms

Meanwhile, taxpayers wishing to file returns before Jan. 1 can use 1960 tax forms. After computing the tax, they can deduct 65 per cent of the amount due. The 65 per cent deduction for 1961 was granted to make up for speedup in tax payments brought about by withholding, which goes into effect Feb. 1.

The taxpayer with capital gains must go through an additional step. He should compute his tax twice, once on all income and once on income other than capital gains. He must pay 35 per cent of the tax due on income other than by capital gains, and the difference between the total tax on "other" income and on his total income, including capital gains.

Taxpayers with capital gains must refile after the new forms are available, Maass said. The tentative procedure for filing was set up for persons wishing to file before Dec. 31. Many taxpayers want to take the state tax deduction off their 1961 federal income tax.

Taxpayers with only income tax to report will not file twice because basically, the two forms will require the same information.

Tables for computing withholding taxes will be sent to employers after Feb. 1, Maass said, but they will not be graduated to take up the one month (January) lapse.

"Most taxpayers will find they must pay that additional cost in their next tax," Maass said. "The department does not plan to absorb the 12 months withholding in 11 payments."

Appleton's tax office, as well as the office in Madison, have been flooded with phone calls from residents asking clarification of the revised tax law. Most of the questions have been general in nature, and will be answered when the forms are available Maass said.

Man Fined $10

Chilton Judge's Handbook Stresses Parents' Role in Delinquency Fight

Calumet County Jurist's Manual to Serve As Aid to Police, Sheriff Departments

CHILTON — Handling of youths under the age of 18 in trouble with the law has been clearly outlined in a manual of juvenile procedures prepared by Calumet County Juvenile Court Judge D. H. Sebora.

The manual, which was distributed this week, will aid members of the sheriff's department and various city police departments in the county when they are dealing with offenses involving juveniles, Judge Sebora said.

Correction and rehabilitation, not punishment and retribution, are the aims of the Juvenile Court, Judge Sebora said. "To rehabilitate and educate delinquent children in Calumet County, we must use every local facility — the County Welfare Department, other social agencies, churches, civic groups and interested individuals," Judge Sebora said: He adds: "In most instances we can be of greater help to these children than any outside facility. In fact, it is our duty and obligation to the children of this county. Sending a child to Wales or Oregon is not a "solution."

Child From Community

The judge pointed out that such detention only removes the child from the community a short time — an average of three months — after which time the child is again back in the community.

"We must face the fact that we and our children will have to live with this individual for many years," Judge Sebora said.

He defined the differences between the handling of a juvenile offender and an adult offender by law enforcement officers.

The grounds for taking a juvenile into custody are broader than those providing for the arrest of an adult since they cover not only violations of the law but also provide for protective custody. The manual emphasizes the juvenile's parents or legal guardians are to be notified of the apprehension as soon as possible.

Judge Sebora's outline also stresses the release of the juvenile offender to his parents or guardians as soon as possible after reasonable questioning and investigation by police.

Parental Custody

A juvenile should not be placed in a detention facility — in Calumet County's case, the jail—when his parents can and will control the child and present him at court when ordered. The manual further states that juveniles should not be detained merely to facilitate a police investigation or because of the seriousness of the offense. However, Judge Sebora points out, when the seriousness of the offense may motivate the child into running away or injuring himself or others, detention is recommended.

Suspicion of a commission of a crime is not considered grounds to detain a juvenile.

The role of the law enforcement agencies in relation to juveniles is to prevent delinquency as well as control it by apprehending and punishing offenders. Minor offenses should be dealt with in a protective but firm manner; parents should be alerted to anti - social acts of their children, and children and their parents should be referred to social agencies which can assist them with existing difficulties and curb future problems.

Appleton Motorist Injured in Crash

Lawrence H. West, 58, 202 S. Outagamie St., received minor injuries about 6 p.m. Wednesday when his car was struck in the rear by one driven by Julian LaBresh, 66, 230 W. Spencer St., according to county police.

West said he was traveling east on Spencer Road about a quarter-mile west of the Appleton city limits when he came to a stop at the railroad tracks. The LaBresh car, he said, struck his vehicle from the rear.

Grand Chute Sends Bills

23,033 Tax Notices Being Mailed Out By Town Treasurer

A total of 23,033 Town of Grand Chute tax bills have been put in the mails. Town Treasurer Peter Berg said the bills, when paid, would bring $311,331 into the town's coffers.

Of the bills, 22,757 are for real estate taxes and 256 are for personal property. Real estate bills will bring in $280,014 and personal property bills will bring in $27,582.

Others Listed

The rest of the total tax roll will be made up of $416 in weed cutting assessments, $264 in drainage assessments, $3,036 in miscellaneous special assessments, $12.50 in occupational bee taxes and $5 in occupational mink taxes.

The 1962 levy will not pay off all county taxes. The general fund will be diminished by $36,660 for that purpose.

Berg said taxes may be paid from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. every Saturday starting Jan. 6 at the town hall. Those planning to pay the full amount have until Feb. 28.

Taxpayers who use the installment plan must pay one half of their total tax, all special assessments and personal property taxes by Feb. 28 and the rest by July 31.

Ancient Rite Celebrated

Byzantine Liturgy Honored by Church Ceremony Friday

A Capuchin priest will celebrate the Byzantine Liturgy for the children of St. Joseph parish, at 9:30 a.m. Friday, the feast of the Holy Innocents in the Byzentine calendar.

The celebrant will be the Rev. Hermes Kreilkamp, a graduate of the Pontifical Oriental Institute in Rome. The Oriental Choir from the Capuchin Seminary of St. Anthony, Marathon, will sing. Servers for the mass will be clerics from the same seminary.

Father Kreilkamp will give a slide lecture explaining ceremonies and symbolism of the Byzantine Liturgy at 7 p.m. Thursday at St. Joseph School.

Public Invited

The public is invited to attend the lecture and the Liturgy.

Although not as well known as the Roman Latin rite, the Byzantine and many other Eastern rites have been used by Catholics in their worship since the earliest centuries of Christianity. The Nicene Creed is recited in the liturgical worship whether of the Latin or Byzantine rite. Pope John XXIII recently celebrated the Byzantine Liturgy at St. Peter in Rome.

The Byzantine Liturgy which Father Kreilkamp will celebrate Friday also is called the Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom. St. John was an archbishop of Constantinople in the fourth and fifth centuries.

Past Master Paul Hannemann installed the new officers assisted by Past Masters Ernest Parfitt and Luman Williams. Past Master Dean Van Doren acted as marshal.

Motorists Admit Reckless Driving

Charges of drunken driving against two Appleton men were reduced to reckless driving today in Municipal Court.

Pleading guilty to the amended charges were Wayne W. Delfosse, 18, 1029 W. Brewster St., and Edward J. McCarthy, 33, S. Memorial Drive.

Delfosse, who was arrested April 10 in the Town of Grand Chute, was fined $65. McCarthy, who was arrested July 2, 1960, was fined $50.

Former Employee of Kimberly-Clark Dies

NEENAH — Raymond H. Donahue, 56, former Neenah resident, died Monday at Milwaukee. He was employed in the accounting department at Kimberly-Clark Corp. from 1928 to about 1940.

Appleton Residents Send and Receive Fewer Cards in 1961

There's a Little Christmas gift for every Appleton taxpayer in the boxes loaded on this city pickup truck Tuesday morning. City Treasurer Ray L. Feuerstein watches as 18,272 tax bills he and his staff prepared are loaded for their trip to the post office. The bills may be paid at Feuerstein's office daily from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. There will be special collection hours from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday. The office will be closed Saturday. City employees loading the bills are Bernard Bohm, center, and Bert Weisen, right.

Business Mail Hikes Volume

Appleton residents sent fewer Christmas cards and received fewer this year than last.

Outgoing mail volume for the Christmas rush period was down about one per cent, said Appleton postmaster Francis Sumnicht, and incoming mail was down about .4 per cent. Parcels were also fewer.

But business mail increased enough to keep postal employees busier than usual for the period. There was an over-all increase of 4 per cent in mail volume during the Christmas period, which equals the average increase for the year.

Campaign a Success

This year's "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign was a success for Appleton postal employees. Although the Christmas rush period was, in effect, one day shorter this year because Dec. 24 was a Sunday, all cards were delivered by Saturday. Except for a few parcels and special delivery mail, there were no deliveries on Sunday.

A lot of parcels arrived on Tuesday morning, Sumnicht said. "But these were not mailed until Friday or Saturday and the persons probably never expected them to be delivered," he said. "Nothing was delayed if it was mailed earlier in the week."

Thirty-eight extra employees were hired by the post office to help handle the deluge of Christmas mail, but none worked for the entire rush period. This compares to 130 extras last year and 160 in 1959. A new system under which regular employees worked overtime and use of only one delivery a day cut down the number of added employees needed.

Fewer Dead Letters

Only about half as many Christmas cards as usual wound up in ppleton's dead letter baskets this year. There was the usual mail without stamps or addresses, Sumnicht said, but "there was

No Decision on Parking Meter Time Changes

Safety Committee Holds Up Motion On 5 p.m. Limit

There will be no decision for a while on a proposal to end parking meter enforcement at 5 p.m. rather than 6 p.m.

The public safety committee decided Tuesday night to hold up on a resolution that would change the hours of enforcement because it anticipated other possible changes in the future. It did not want to suggest an ordinance now that would be amended several times later.

Backed Motion

Ald. Al Stoegbauer, who sponsored the resolution, and Ted Bernhard, manager of Sears and Roebuck Appleton store and a chamber of commerce member, backed the 5 p.m. deadline before the committee and asked for parking meter enforcement on Monday nights.

But the committee felt the Monday and Friday night openings might be changed in the future, necessitating a change in the parking meter ordinance. It wanted to hold off until merchants are more generally agreed on the nights they will open their stores.

Other Business

The public safety committee last week recommended that the city council deny the change, but the council indicated in an informal, advisory vote that it favored the change by a 14-3 margin. The committee was disposed to accept that decision last night.

A request by Ald. Alvin Tews asking that private contractors be used to remove snow from city parking lots was left to be answered by the street and sanitation committee and Director of Public Works Edwin Duszynski.

A request from Mrs. Edward Nadel, 310 W. College Ave., that the alley between the alley just north of College Avenue between Superior and Division streets be made one-way was held for more study.

Junior Exhibitors To be Honored by Area County Units

OSHKOSH — Guernsey associations from Winnebago, Outagamie and Fond du Lac counties will honor junior exhibitors who have outstanding records at a tour in the Neenah area Thursday.

The group will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the Poinsettia Restaurant at Gillingham Corners. From there they will go to the Carl Jacobsen farm in the town of Clayton and the William Harness farm in the town of Neenah before returning to the Poinsettia at noon for dinner.

After dinner they will tour the carton plant of Marathon Division of American Can Co.

Allan Bringe, University of Wisconsin extension dairy specialist, will speak at the noon dinner.

Bid Accepted For Razing of Frenzl House

The board of public works Tuesday accepted the low bid of Westgate Wrecking Co. Inc., Appleton, for the razing of the Frenzl home in the 200 block of N. Morrison street, a possible parking ramp site.

Westgate, a division of Berg and Henn, bid $645. Two other bids, $742 from Madison Moving and Wrecking Co., Oshkosh, and $700 from Wisconsin Wrecking and Lumber, Oshkosh, were received.

Barton, Ashmann and Associates, Evanston, Ill., hired by the city to make a parking ramp study, has proposed that a two-story ramp be built on two lots bounded by Washington, Franklin and Morrison streets. The Frenzl property, recently acquired by the city, partially bisects the two lots.

Two bids for three squad cars and two detective cars for the Appleton police department were referred to the public safety committee. The public safety committee took no action on the bids Tuesday night because it was not sure whether the cars offered are in accord with police department specifications.

Cut Red Tape

Barbara Hipke Wed to Her Airman in Quiet Rites at New Holstein Church

BY DON KAMPFER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW HOLSTEIN — In the quiet confines of the St. John United Church of Christ Tuesday night, a radiant young school teacher and her handsome airman exchanged nuptial vows.

"It was the only thing we wanted — a quiet wedding," said the bride. She is the former Miss Barbara Hipke, 28-year-old Air Force school teacher from New Holstein, whose 25-hour wait for the then groom-to-be at New York's Idlewild airport last week first attracted national headlines to the thorny trip to the altar. The groom of less than an hour, Kenneth Driskill, a soft-spoken South Carolinian, gave a sigh of relief and smiled in agreement during a family reception at the bride's home after the wedding.

Only members of the family were present at the hastily scheduled nuptial, which was blessed about 9 p.m. by the Rev. Charles Koch, pastor. The church is a block from the Hipke home.

Sister Attended

The bride and her twin sister, Mrs. Shirley Custer, Green Lake, who served as the bride's honor attendant wore red silk dresses and white feather-clip hats. Walton Frisch, New Holstein, the bride's brother-in-law, served as best man.

A solid and tiring day of cutting legal red tape preceded the ceremony. It included three trips to the Calumet County courthouse at Chilton and one to Oshkosh to the Winnebago County courthouse.

The couple met for the first time in November on a holiday jaunt from Tripoli to Malta where both were stationed with the Air Force — she as a civilian teacher. They started their wedding day by coming to the Chilton courthouse.

Gave Dispensation

There County Judge D. H. Sebora granted dispensation of the five-day waiting period because of Driskill's military service status. Roland Miller, county clerk, provided them with the necessary information for marriage license application. Secondary details were cleared up during a second visit to the county court house early in the afternoon but then a trip to Oshkosh became necessary. Clearance of a document by Circuit Judge H. F. Arps was necessary.

Then it was back to Chilton. Miller accommodated the young couple by returning with them to the courthouse and issuing the license after 6 p. m.

Meanwhile, Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hipke, made arrangements for the evening wedding with the Rev. Mr. Koch.

The couple arrived back home from their hectic but successful

Four Church Plunderers Questioned About Series of Unsolved Crimes

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Four youths who went to church Christmas Eve to plunder instead of pray are being questioned further today by Appleton detectives.

Police believe their answers will crack a series of unsolved church thefts and sacrilegious acts.

Two of the four teen-age boys already have blurted a story wrought with irreverence—of sipping ceremonial wine and munching communion wafers in the wake of one church entry while planning yet another.

These two have admitted taking part in the theft of religious items from Trinity Lutheran Church. All four have admitted a part in the theft of money and ceremonial wine from Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Det. Lt. George Behrendt said he would enlist aid of mills along the Fox River today in an effort to recover a valuable silver communion flagon which the youths said dropped into the river near the Valley Iron Works. The flagon was stolen from Trinity Lutheran Church Christmas Eve.

Recover Alms Bag

From under an evergreen tree at the corner of Fremont and Madison Streets, police recovered a red velvet alms bag containing a number of items from Trinity Lutheran. Included in the loot was a length of rope, several salt and pepper shakers, a half-dozen darts, a bottle of glue and a box of pencils.

At the home of one of the youths, police found a gold ceremonial cross hidden in a radio-phonograph and an automatic tabulator hidden in a clothes closet.

From the wallet of one youth and from a hiding place in a garage, detectives recovered about $100 of the money stolen from Sacred Heart.

Det. Lt. Behrendt said the two youths who entered Trinity Church came down town about 7:30 p.m. Christmas Eve. Everything was closed, Behrendt quoted the boys as saying, so they entered the church. After stealing the items and sprinkling salt, pepper and coffee grounds in the church kitchen, the youths went to Sacred Heart Church.

Met Others

There they met the other two youths, while midnight mass was in progress, two of the boys went upstairs to an office. A housekeeper heard the intruders and called up to them. The two boys came down, police said, and gave the housekeeper the excuse that they were looking for something for one of the priests.

The youths at first denied taking part in the thefts but when police found a billfold of one of the boys which contained a large amount of money, the suspects confessed.

Behrendt pointed to a part of the statement taken from the youths and recalled an old saying that there is no honor among thieves. When two of the youths were in the priest's office in Sacred Heart, one of them told the other that he had found a large amount of money. "Don't tell ——," he said. "Then we won't have to split four ways."

Petition to Dissolve School District Filed for Spring Road

Group of Residents Would Have Area Attached to Neenah System

NEENAH — A petition for dissolving the entire Spring Road School District of the Town of Menasha as of June 30 and attaching it to the Neenah public school system has been filed at the courthouse at Oshkosh.

A hearing on the petition by the county school committee has not been set but likely will be held in January.

The petition, filed by several opponents to the district creating its own high school district, deals a temporary setback to Spring Road having its own high school since now the county school committee is brought into the picture.

Action taken at a district meeting Dec. 11 to operate its own high school can become part of the hearing and aid the county school committee in reaching its decision. At the Dec. 11 meeting those present voted 107 to 54 to establish their own high school district and to seek the approval of the state superintendent of public instruction for such action.

Proponents of the high school planned to secure the support of the Clayton School in the Town of Clayton and Badger and Triangle School Districts in Outagamie County to join with them in operating a high school.

Clayton Petition

However, also filed this week was a petition to dissolve the Clayton School District and attach it in its entirety to the Neenah system.

All such attachments must be contiguous and with Clayton adjoining Gillingham School District, which already has been attached to Neenah, the Spring Road District would be virtually ringed if it had its own high school. Tullar district stands between Gillingham and Neenah and would have to become part of the Neenah system to continue the contiguous requirement.

Former Menasha Businessman Dies in Florida

MENASHA — William G. Trilling, 75, a former Menasha merchant and member of the Menasha Board of Education, died this morning at Orlando, Fla., where he had lived the last several years.

He was born Jan. 30, 1886 in Ashland and operated the Trilling Hardware Store in Menasha for many years. He later was employed at the George Banta Co. He was a past master of John A. Bryan Lodge, F. and A.M. He and Mrs. Trilling, who died three years ago, had made their winter home in Orlando for many years. He also was past president of the Orlando Shuffleboard Club.

Injured as Auto Hits Parked Car

NEENAH — E. E. Kadlec, 304 Congress St., suffered lacerations of the forehead and scalp at 1:28 a.m. today when a car he was driving struck a parked vehicle owned by David J. Hanson, route 1.

Twin City Man Gets 6-Month Jail Term

OSHKOSH — Shirley W. Rogge, 37, 137 Douglas St., Neenah, this morning was sentenced to three concurrent terms of six months each in the Winnebago County jail by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane. Judge Cane withheld sentencing until July 2 on three counts of check forgery.

Rogge earlier had pleaded guilty of stealing two wrenches from Theda Clark Memorial Hospital at Neenah where he had been employed and this morning pleaded no contest to two charges of writing worthless $10 checks and forging three checks. The total amount involved in the five checks and on a third worthless check which has shown up since Rogge's arrest totals $55.

Motor Burns; Fumes Affect Mother, Baby

NEENAH — The strong odor from a burned-out fan motor in an oil burner brought the fire department to the David Longsin home, 330 Smith St., twice this morning.

Firemen made their first trip at 3:34 a.m. when smoke and fumes from the burned-out motor filled the house.

They returned at 5:05 a.m. when it was reported that fumes were still strong in the house, and Mrs. Longsin and the baby had become choked up. Firemen used the resuscitator on the baby and gave the mother oxygen.

Architect for the New Church to be built for St. Thomas Episcopal parish is Harry Weese, Chicago, shown with the Rev. Thomas K. Chaffee. Weese, who is a member of the city planning commission of Chicago, has built the United States embassy at Ghana, theaters and industrial buildings as well as private homes.

Weese Declares:

Situations Dictate Architect's Designs

BY MARION DREW
TCNR Staff Writer

MENASHA — An architect who adapts his designs to each situation and is constantly looking for new challenges in building is Harry Weese of Chicago, who is currently designing a new church for St. Thomas Episcopal parish. Internationally well known as one of the most brilliant and versatile American architects, he is not afraid to be original and at the same time has a deep respect for tradition.

"We heard of Mr. Weese first through Pietro Valluschi, dean of the architectural school at Massachusetts Institute of Technology," said the Rev. Thomas K. Chaffee, rector of St. Thomas'. "He recommended Weese as one of two or three of the most outstanding and able architects in the country.

Want to Retain Church

"We had a tremendously complicated problem here, as we intend to keep the original church as a chapel, adjacent to the new building. This always makes building more of a problem than beginning from scratch. We consulted several architects who came to Menasha to discuss the project. Mr. Weese presented the most feasible solution. His plans have been accepted by the vestry, subject to the approval by the congregation. The building will be as inspiring and beautiful as a church should be, as well as practical and functional."

Weese, who heads his own employs some 35 architects and draftsmen. One of his assistants on the local church building is Christopher Walker, an English architect, who was graduated from the University of London and helped design the new cathedral at Coventry.

"I wanted to be an architect from the time I was 10 years old," Weese says, "My first job was working with a group of carpenters building a log cabin in Michigan. Practical experience is one of the best teachers in this field as well as others."

Weese received his architectural degree from MIT, then attended Yale School of Architecture for postgraduate work. He served in the navy for five years during World War II and joined the firm of Owings and Skidmore before founding his own firm.

MENASHA — A fire at the Cyril Van Vreede home, 824 Ninth St., town of Menasha, was brought under control with a fire extinguisher at 5 15 a.m. today. The town of Menasha fire department was called.

Van Vreede said he smelled smoke and saw flames surrounding the furnace He reported considerable damage to the furnace and smoke damage to home furnishings.

Chart Used To Explain Tax Bills

OSHKOSH — A statement and chart explaining how their money is being spent is included with the tax bill which Oshkosh taxpayers began picking up today.

The statement points out that Oshkosh has not raised its tax rate, which is $41.20 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

"Although continuing the services required by a progressing city and in spite of increased expenditures resulting from rising prices, we were still able to hold the rate at last year's figure," City Mgr. Ray Harbaugh said in the statement.

"This was accomplished by your common council's adopting a 'hold the line' policy. School boards and the county supervisors cooperated to make this objective a reality," the statement goes on.

Chart

The chart points out that of each $41.20 paid on each $1,000 of valuation, schools get $29.33, the state county tax takes $4.31, public safety receives $3.09, garbage collection, 74 cents, debt service, 63 cents, library, museum and parks, 93 cents, and other general city costs, $2.17.

Property taxes provide 54.4 per cent of the city's revenues while 30.1 per cent comes from state taxes and aids such as the income, liquor, telephone and public service tax allotments and aids for streets and schools. Department earnings and unexpended balances bring in another 15.5 per cent.

Only One Race

Candidate Interest in Neenah Election Slow

NEENAH — With five weeks remaining in which to file completed nomination papers, only three incumbent aldermen and four county supervisors have indicated they will seek re-election. Council members for whom nomination papers have been taken out are Ald. Wilmot A. Houpt, 412 S. Lake St., Fourth ward; Ald. Carl B. Coenen, 649 Wilson St., Sixth ward, and Ald. Harold Young, 413 Church St., 10th ward. Of the three, only Coenen has filed his completed papers. Of the two remaining aldermen whose terms expire this spring, Ald. Ewald Miller, Second ward, has not taken out nomination papers, and Ald. James H. Dinius, Eighth ward, has indicated he will not seek another term.

The only election contest that has appeared so far is in the Second ward, where County Supv. Fred W. Grupe, 109 Law St., is challenged by Duane Sweet, 125 Mead St. Neither has filed completed nomination papers.

Carl Matson Will Speak At Michigan Conference

MENASHA — Carl Matson, 93 S. Lake St., Neenah, technical director, Gilbert Paper Co., will discuss the topic, "The Gardner Drier", at the sixth annual Paper Conference, to be held Jan. 18 at the Paper Industry Laboratories of Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

General theme of the conference is, "Recent Advances in Paper Drying".

Others scheduled to speak are B. J. Sledge, chief design engineer, Champion Paper and Fiber Co.; James W. Tyler, combustion engineer, Consolidated Water Power & Paper Co.; Maurice R Asselin, development engineer, St Regis Paper Co., and H. M. Harrelson, development engineer, International Paper Co.

The principal address will be delivered by Lawrence K. Gessner, senior analyst, Smith Barney & Co., on the topic, "What Is Wrong with the Paper Industry?"

During the afternoon, there will be a panel discussion featuring the morning speakers. Dr. R. A. Diehm will act as moderator. The panel will be followed by tours through the laboratories.

Ladder Sets Off Menasha Whistle

MENASHA — When a ladder fell against a whistle cord Tuesday night, it touched off quite a reaction, most of it centered in the police station.

Between 7:10 and 7:15 p.m., about 20 calls came to the police station, jamming the two telephone lines. Policemen dispatched to the Menasha Woodenware Corp. plant on River Street found the ladder, used by a crew dismantling a smokestack at the boiler house, had been knocked over by a gust of wind. The ladder fell against a steam whistle control cord, setting off the long, loud blast heard through much of the Twin Cities.

Greetings of the season

And happy, hearty holiday wishes to all our friends and patrons. We hope you enjoy many festive hours, and many quiet ones, too, in the company of your dear ones. It's a pleasure to serve people like you, and we most sincerely thank you for your loyalty and good will.

Your Money's Worth

What Makes Some New Issues 'Hot'

BY SYLVIA PORTER

When a new stock issue of a small, practically unknown company is offered to the public at, say, $5 a share and immediately doubles in price, who is responsible and how come this can happen? Is it only an "accident" that preferred customers who get a block of the stock at the original offering price make a paper fortune overnight? Or is the price deliberately manipulated to benefit the insiders or purposely chosen to short - change the company?

Porter

These are questions which I've heard Wall Street professionals argue repeatedly in recent months as the number of new stock sales has reached the highest totals since 1929 and they'll be asked with increasing intensity in coming months as the number of new stock sales goes even higher, which it will.

What, then, are some answers to the questions posed above? In an analysis of "The New - Issues Game" to be released this week, Fortune Magazine summarizes a few clearly and draws from the answers specific lessons for every speculator trying to play the game successfully.

Misjudged Market

A first answer is that the firm managing the stock sale (the underwriter) may have badly misjudged the market.

This is not hard to do, for many of these companies are so new, so offbeat that it's surprising firms can price the stocks at all. For instance, earlier this year, a company named Simulmatics offered stock to the public at two-dollars and within a few hours, the stock was quoted at nine-dollars. This was a two-year-old company with a net worth of minus - minus! - $21,000. It's a wonder the underwriter settled on any price.

A second answer is that the underwriter may reach an agreement with a company to offer its stock at, say, $4 a share, and then refuse to hike the price even though a later favorable turn in the company's affairs might justify a price of $7 or $8.

This sort of news can get around Wall Street in a matter of minutes and when it does, a spurt in the price from $4 to $8 is a cinch.

Make 'Hot' Issue

A third answer is that the underwriter may purposely give the company a bum deal on price to be sure of having a "hot" issue.

For obvious reasons, underwriters like hot stock issues. In Fortune's words. "They attract new customers, reward old ones, and serve to strengthen the loyalty of brokers and dealers" on whom the underwriter must regularly count to help him move less attractive stock issues. Also, the underwriter himself can make a quick fortune on a hot new issue.

A fourth answer is that the underwriter may be deliberately manipulating the stock to bilk investors. When/a firm plays what Wall Streeters call "Tout and Out", it will go through the motions of selling a stock to the public but this "public" will be insiders pledged not to resell until given the word. While they hold their shares, publicity firms tout the stock, plugs are planted in the press, the background is created for a price rise. When the "real public" starts coming in, the insiders begin feeding out their stock. When they've sold, the manipulators withdraw their false bids, the press releases are discontinued, the plugs end — the price slumps, the suckers have had it.

To Uncover Scandal

This is rigging of new stocks at its baldest and the Securities & Exchange Commission is going to uncover some scandalous instances of it in its current investigation of the over-the-counter market.

In view of this analysis, what might you do to protect yourself when you play "The New-Issues Game"?

You might, says Fortune, put money only into large, well-established companies or into small companies with which you are thoroughly familiar. You might invest in a mutual fund specializing in new, growth issues, thereby paying someone else to pick your companies. You might deal only with an underwriting firm which has a solid reputation and record in the field. In this case, you'll have to buy the "cold" as well as "torrid" stocks and give the firm other business too.

None of these arrangements will guarantee you against loss but you'll at least minimize your risks.

And as the game gets rougher and the SEC discloses the scandals which are common gossip in Wall Street but which reporters don't yet dare write about, you'll be grateful you didn't try to play the issues for the limit.

Teacher Wed In Ceremony at New Holstein day after 7 p.m. and began the rush to get dressed for the ceremony.

Back at the Hipke home following the wedding, the newlyweds and the entire Hipke family had an opportunity to relax. The well used phone was strangely quiet — it had been conveniently out of order during portions of Tuesday.

The hectic events of the last week were rehashed. The bride chatted freely of plans for the future. There will be no honeymoon, she said, adding "We're saving that for Japan." One of the southern islands of Japan will be Driskill's next duty station with the Air Force.

Will Report

He will report there in late January. She will follow later, about six weeks to two months, after he is established and has had an opportunity to find their honeymoon home.

She plans to again teach at an Air Force dependents' school. It was this occupation and the bride's fondness for travel that resulted in the romance.

While teaching at a similar school in Libya, one of the 27 countries she has seen, the New Holstein girl went on a holiday to Malta. En route she met Driskill.

When he was reassigned shortly after to Japan, Barbara broke her teaching contract with the government and followed him back to the U. S. so that they could carry out wedding plans. He was to meet her at Idlewild, but bad weather and a breakdown in communications kept them apart.

After waiting a little more than a day, newsmen picked up the story and played a big role in getting the two back together. Ever since, the romance has been the source of headlines.

Though grateful to the press for the role it played during the long wait, the newlyweds expressed the fond hope that they will be able to settle back into obscurity.

KVS Considers Adult Course In Landscaping

KAUKAUNA—To determine interest in a landscaping course, the Kaukauna School of Vocational and Adult Education has asked interested adults to contact the school office.

If advance interest warrants, the school will schedule the class for a six or eight-week period beginning early in March. Instructor will be Laurence Holmes, who taught at the University of Wisconsin for 10 years and for 20 years has operated his landscape practice.

The course would be lecture-discussion type utilizing colored slides to illustrate landscape design, grading, walks, driveways, tree usage, foundation planting, pruning, lawn making, annuals, colorful summer gardens, border arrangements, hardy bulbs, house plants, sprays, bush and fruit trees, vegetable gardens, kitchen herbs and pest control.

Man Injured When Train Strikes Car

Walter Balthazor, 69, 803 W. Packard St., was injured about 5:10 p.m. Tuesday when the car he was driving collided with a Chicago and North Western switch engine at the Wittman Avenue crossing.

He was taken to Memorial Hospital by Larry's ambulance.

Renk Challenges Kuehn to Test In Open Primary

SUN PRAIRIE (AP) — Wilbur Renk of Sun Prairie today challenged Philip Kuehn of Whitefish Bay to meet him in an open primary for the Republican nomination for governor without the help of party endorsement.

Renk was first to declare himself a candidate in the 1962 race. Kuehn, the party's standard bearer in 1960, hopes to be the party's endorsed candidate again next year.

"Rank and file Republican voters tell me they want to select their own candidates in the primary election," Renk said in a statement.

Carries Beer in Car Containing Minors, Youth Fined $50

OSHKOSH — Robert J. Warmke, 19, 1862 Oregon St., Oshkosh, was fined $50 by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning after Warmke admitted carrying beer in a car containing minors.

When arrested by Oshkosh police at 5:46 a.m. today on Oregon Street, two 17-year-old boys and three others over 18 were in the car with Warmke. Police noticed the car because of a frosty windshield and began to follow the car. Occupants of the car were taking partially consumed beer bottles from the car and putting them in the gutter when police drove up.

Christmas Card Volume Down In Appleton

no mountain of it this year."

The post office had about two baskets of undeliverable mail, which was down considerably, he said. "People are apparently more careful. Last year was also a big improvement over previous years."

Two experienced clerks do their best to get letters from the dead letter section to the people they were sent—if not addressed—to. The clerks are familiar with the city and its residents, and letters with names they recognize are given to the right carriers. No special directory service is given regular letters.

Total Volume

Total mail volume for the Christmas rush period (Dec. 7 to 24) in Appleton was 4,936,000, up 4 per cent from last year's 4,733,000. The Christmas card volume was almost the same both years, but the normal flow of business mail increased in 1961.

Appleton residents sent 1,720,000 Christmas cards in 1961, which was 18,000 below 1960. They received 2,041,000, down 8,000 from 1960.

By the middle of last week the volume of outgoing mail was almost 10 per cent ahead of last year, while the colume of incoming mail was almost 10 per cent behind. But the last few days of the Christmas period reversed the picture.

Public Thanked By Postmasters For Cooperation

NEENAH — Appreciation for the cooperation of the public in their Christmas mailing this year was expressed today by Acting Postmaster John Dachel and the letter carrier and postal clerk unions at the Neenah Post Office.

Instead of a clerk being on duty in the lobby to separate the mail according to destination when it was brought into the post office, the public did this separation themselves in the mail sacks provided.

This enabled the clerk to do other work which helped speed up the mail.

Earlier mailing of Christmas greeting cards and packages also was appreciated by the postal employees.

Acting Postmaster James Omachinski of Menasha said the same procedure was followed there and made for a very smooth and efficient as well as a speedier handling of mail, for which his staff also was thankful.

Case Dismissed

A charge of failing to yield the right-of-way against Leo Dorn Jr., 33, route 3, Appleton, was dismissed in Municipal Court today. Dorn was arrested Jan. 30 by Kaukauna Police.

counting departments of the company. At the time of his retirement, he was a cashier in the company's College Avenue office.

A former school teacher, McIlroy attended Lawrence College and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin with a bachelor's degree in agriculture. He served on the faculties of North Dakota and University of Illinois agricultural colleges. He was also a former instructor at Appleton's Vocational School.

Stillman also started with the company in 1925 His first job was as an oiler at the Appleton power plant.

He later became a furnace operator and in 1942 was promoted to utility relief operator. In 1944 he was advanced to turbine operator, the position he held until retirement.

He attended the Milwaukee School of Engineering and the University of Wisconsin Extension in Milwaukee.

Hearing Set For Swimming Pool Salesman

Keith Jolly, formerly of 2711 Highway Drive, an Appleton swimming pool salesman and contractor, Tuesday was bound over for preliminary hearings on three counts of writing worthless checks and three counts of failure to pay suppliers for material used in business.

Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller set bond at $13,500 and scheduled the hearings Jan. 12. Jolly is being held in Outagamie County jail pending payment of the bond.

Jolly is charged with writing three worthless checks totaling $195 and with the theft of $1,458 by failure to pay suppliers for material used in work he has done.

Jerome Block, Jolly's attorney, told the court that Jolly is "a poor businessman" and was bankrupt and didn't know it.

Jolly was arrested in Lake Geneva.

More Dependents Go to Ft. Lewis

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The Wisconsin colony of servicemen's wives and children in the Ft. Lewis area is expected to swell by 1,400 to more than 3,000 in the next few days.

About 8,000 members of Wisconsin's 32nd Division are presently at home for Christmas leave and dependents will return with many of them, a division spokesman said Tuesday.

The women and children who will be with their returning husbands will join more than 1,600 others from Wisconsin now living at Ft. Lewis or in nearby Tacoma and Olympia.

The division resumes training Jan. 4 after 15 days of holiday leaves.

Drastic Shift In Program on Manned Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says it has ordered a major revision in its Dyna Soar program which will eliminate one step in the manned research craft's eventual path to space. It will combine solid and liquid fuel rocket engines.

The Air Force said Tuesday it has decided to use one big liquid-fuel rocket engine and two smaller solid-fuel rocket engines to hurl the glider-like Dyna Soar into the lower edge of space. From there it is to soar back to earth after orbiting.

All suborbital flights, using only the Titan II missile as booster, are now eliminated from the program.

3 Phases in Test

The Titan II probably will be augmented with the thrust of two solid-fuel rocket engines arranged alongside the Titan rocket to provide the push needed to blast the Dyna Soar up to the 18,000 mile-an-hour speed needed for orbit.

The Dyna Soar program had called for three phases in its test schedule—an air drop of a glider from a B52 at high altitude: trajectroy flight launchings, like missile shoots; and then orbital flights from Cape Canaveral, Fla., to landings at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The revised plans mean the schedule will move directly from air drop tests to orbital flights.

Former K-C Employee Takes India Assignment

Dr. John R. Fanselow, formerly of the Kimberly-Clark Corp., will leave the faculty of the paper technology department of Western Michigan University Jan. 24 to accept a short assignment in India.

Dr. aFnselow was invited by the International Cooperation Administration to serve as a consultant to the infant paper industry in India. He will work about three months at the Forest Research Institute at Dehra Dun, 160 miles north of New Delhi.

Dr. Fanselow has been on the faculty of Western Michigan University since he retired from Kimberly-Clark Corp. in 1957.

Spellman Voices Pride at Troops

BERLIN (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman completed his Christmas visit to Berlin Tuesday, voicing pride over U.S. troops in the outpost city and sorrow over the Communist wall.

During his two-day visit to U.S. forces in Berlin, the 62-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of New York took a helicopter journey along the wall and briefly stepped a few feet across the line at Friedrichstrasse to say "Merry Christmas" to Red border guards.

Deadline Set to Sign for Teen Toboggan Party

KAUKAUNA — Students planning to participate in the recreation department - sponsored toboggan party at 1 p.m. Thursday have until noon of that day to pick up and return parental consent slips for the affair, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

Buses will leave from in front of the high school and return to Kaukauna about 6 p.m. A small rental fee for toboggans will be charged.

Youngsters will not be permitted to attend unless parental consent slips are filed with the recreation director. Adult supervision is planned. The party will be held near a Hortonville farm.

Green Bay Blaze Destroys Home, Tree, Presents on Christmas

GREEN BAY — A flash fire Christmas day destroyed the home, presents and Christmas tree of a family of four.

The Robert Lealiou family had returned from a holiday visit to their East side home to find flames shooting from their house. Lealiou said the $2,500 insurance policy covering the furnishings had lapsed two days before the fire.

Included in the loss were Christmas toys for Roddy, 6 months old, and Billy, 2.

Missing Tot Found By California Police

KINGSBURG, Calif (AP)—Joe Uvalles, his wife and their nine children were driving north to their home in San Jose Tuesday when they noticed they were short one youngster.

They counted again and found that Genevieve, 2, was missing, Uvalles told police here. The cops radioed the word along U.S. Highway 99 and police in Pacoima, 200 miles south, replied they had found Genevieve in a service station rest room.

Uvalles, his wife, and the eight other kids climbed back into their car and went back for Genevieve.

Masonic Group Installs New Lodge Officials

KAUKAUNA — Installation of officers of the Masonic Lodge will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Assuming duties will be Robert Lace, worshipful master; Ralph Bastian, senior warden; Chester Wollangk, junior warden; Stanley Beguhn, treasurer; Olin Dryer, secretary; William G. Dawson, senior deacon, and Joseph Steger Jr., junior deacon.

Appointive officers will be named and installed at the same time. Offices for which men will be appointed include stewards, chaplain and tiler. Installing officers will be Malcolm Jacobson and Howard Patterson, past masters. The Monday meeting has been cancelled. The next regular session will be Jan. 15.

$1,500 Shotgun Taken From Home

GREEN BAY—A French - designed shotgun valued at more than $1,500 was among nearly $2,000 worth of firearms taken from a suburban Allouez home.

The weapons were discovered missing by the owner, Atty. Fredrick N. Trowbridge Jr., who found the door to his home open and footprints leading to the gun-case when he returned to his home Sunday night.

Other weapons taken included 20 and 15-gauge shotguns worth about $150 each. Police said there was no indication of forced entry into the home.

City Considers Purchase of Lynndale Drive

Roadway Needed For Right-of-Way To Industrial Park

The city of Appleton wants to annex or buy the right-of-way of Lynndale Drive between W. Second and W. Spencer streets to make Lynndale Drive a truck route. The right-of-way now lies in the Town of Grand Chute.

The board of public works Tuesday decided to ask Arthur Lecker, Town of Grand Chute chairman, to discuss annexation or acquisition at its next meeting.

The proposed truck route would serve Appleton's industrial park from U.S. 10 via Spencer Street and Lynndale Drive.

If the drive cannot be annexed or purchased and made into a truck route, truck drivers may legally use Prospect Avenue to get to the park, one board member pointed out. He also said that property owners, who were assessed for a recent road rebuilding job, were promised that no trucks would travel that portion of Prospect Avenue.

The planning commission earlier resolved to begin annexation proceedings. But the board of public works, to which the council referred the resolution, thought there might be legal difficulties in beginning annexation of a township road.

Santa Claus . . . After Christmas?

A Christmas Tree . . . After Christmas?

Truly, there are some really wonderful aspects in this sort of a theme — this continuing to "live Christmas after December 25" — to live for something more than material things. And while it may seem a bit presumptuous for us as mere business friends, we humbly commend this type of thinking to you. We, too, like these thoughts much better than the commercial aspects, even tho' in this modern workaday world, the commercial phase is difficult to escape.

Then, purely secondary to the important task of "living Christmas after Christmas", we would like to tell you that if Santa made any mistakes in our type of merchandise in sizes, colors, or style, we're most happy to exchange them. Feel very comfortable about coming in with them — you will find our sales staff most gracious and helpful.

And a happy, happy, meaningful "Christmas after Christmas" to you.

Emerson and Fraser Rout Italian Duo

Australians Take Tenth Crown In 12 Years

BY GORDON TAIT

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson crushed Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 in doubles Wednesday and Australia clinched its 10th Davis Cup tennis championship in the last 12 years.

The doubles rout, achieved under another blistering sun that pushed courtside temperatures to 110, gave Australia a 3-0 lead in the best-of-five match series and reduced Thursday's closing singles matches to formalities.

It was the second straight year the mighty Australians had turned back Italy's challenge, and this time they did it without loss of a set. Both years, Italy reached the Challenge Round by defeating the United States in the Interzone final.

Over 100 Faint

Only about 9,000 spectators watched the doubles—little more than two-thirds of the crowd that had jammed Kooyong Stadium for Tuesday's opening singles. More than 100 had fainted in the broiling sun then and when the temperatures climbed to 96 in the shade just before the start of Wednesday's play, many ticket-holders apparently decided to stay home and listen to the radio report of the match.

Fraser, veteran left-hander who had given way to Emerson in the singles, showed little sign of the knee ailment that has kept him below form most of the year. He and Emerson kept the Italian pair off balance throughout with their strong serves and forced particularly Sirola into glaring errors.

Capt. Harry Hopman had kept his ace, Rod Laver, out of the doubles to rest him for Thursday's singles — should he be needed. Laver had won his singles match from the 6-7 Sirola 6-1, 6-4, 6-3 Tuesday after Emerson had

Aggressive Badgers Upset Providence in Tournament

Ron Jackson Hits 25 in 95-84 Win

NEW YORK (AP)—The University of Wisconsin basketball team looked today for bigger worlds to conquer after knocking off favored Providence in first round play in the Holiday Festival in Madison Square Garden.

Providence took an early lead but the bounding Badgers, who gained control of the game by out rebounding the taller Friars, pulled out in front midway in the first period and went on to a 95-84 victory Tuesday night.

The Badgers make their next start Thursday night, meeting unbeaten Dayton, winner of its seventh straight game with a 75-67 victory over previously undefeated New York University in the first game Tuesday night.

In afternoon games, LaSalle beat Dartmouth 78-60 and Cincinnati won 97-68 over St. John's. LaSalle and Cincinnati also will meet Thursday night. Championship action is set for Saturday night.

8 Straight Points

Providence led at the end of five minutes 18-12, but the Badgers struck for eight straight points, going ahead 20-18 and were never headed. The Badgers had a 46-36 lead at the intermission and outscored Providence by one point, 49-48, in the last half.

"This was our best victory," said Wisconsin Coach Johnny Erickson. "We hit better from the outside—especially when we had to. We hadn't played our best until tonight."

Looking ahead to the Dayton game, Erickson said, "Dayton is much stronger physically than we are. We had better hit our first shots because we won't get the ball very much. They will certainly out-rebound us. We will just have to try to out-hustle them."

Ron Jackson dumped in 25 points for the Badgers, but had a boost in the scoring from four teammates who hit in the double figures. Don Hearden and Pat Richter put in 14 points each and Tom Hughbanks and Ken Siebel added 12 apiece.

Game scoring honors went to Providence's 5-foot-8 playmaker Vinnie Ernst who scored 32 points.

In addition to controling the boards under both baskets, Wisconsin was too aggressive and too fast for Providence. The victory was the fifth in seven starts for Wisconsin. Providence was tagged with its third straight loss after five victories in a row. The Friars were third in national ratings a week ago but now are unranked.

Austin Terms Line Key to Packers' Rushing Success

Sports POST-CRESCENT

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—What makes the Green Bay Packers run?

Manning the three prime posts for the Packers are perennial all-pro choice Jim Ringo at center and Fred Thurston and Forrest Gregg at guards.

They anchored the line that helped the Packers to their second straight Western Division crown and into Sunday's National Football League clash here with the New York Giants.

A sample of how well the Packer ground game worked is found in the statistics of the Green Bay-New York meeting in Milwaukee on Dec. 3. The Packers took a 20-17 victory, and in winning clinched their division title. The score was the same by which the Packers defeated the Giants in a pre-season exhibition meeting.

415 Total Yards

On the way to the league triumph, the Packers rolled up 16 first downs on the ground to four for New York. Green Bay gained 270 yards rushing to 69 for the Giants. The Packers added 145 yards passing for a total gain of 415 yards. New York passed for 210 yards and a total of 279.

Ringo is the best center in the league. Austin said, because "he's quick and smart."

"He runs our offensive line," Austin said. "He makes the calls on blocks, sometimes changing assignments to get better results. He knows what every lineman does on every play.

"On pass protection, he is very good at moving back and picking up the opposition's rushing linemen. He is exceptional at getting the first man on the side of the run."

Thurston, at 250 pounds, has amazing speed for a big man. Gregg, a 240-pounder, is an all-pro tackle, but shifted to the guard spot when Jerry Kramer was lost for the season with an ankle injury.

Playing the tackles for the Packers are Norm Masters and Bob Skoronski, a pair of 250-pounders. They have the drive to open holes in the line and the strength to protect the passer.

Against the Giants, the Packer line time and time again cleared wide routes for fullback Jim Taylor. He responded with his greatest game, running for 186 yards in 28 carries.

"This was the best blocking we had all year," Taylor said. "Thurston and Skoronski were clearing out the right side of the Giant line I was popping into the secondary with no tacklers to bother me at the line of scrimmage."

Taylor also said that the blocking of halfback Paul Hornung was a factor in the victory. "He never missed one of the corner linebackers" the charging fullback said.

Giants' Shofner Feels In Great Shape But Respects Whittenton

Del Wonders How He'll Fare on Frozen Field

BY JACK CLARY

NEW YORK (AP) — End Del Shofner is the gun the New York Giants have held to the heads of 14 National Football League opponents this year, and it has just been cleaned, reloaded and cocked for Sunday's National Football League championship game against the Green Bay Packers.

"After our four day Christmas vacation, which I spent at my home in Texas, my legs feel better than at any time during the last five weeks of the season," the 6-foot-3 speedster said today.

"When we had our first real hard practice session yesterday, I could tell right away that I was in better shape," he added.

What this means to the Giants can be figured in terms of yards and touchdowns, for Shofner, who came to New York this year in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams, is the eastern conference champions "home run" threat.

More than that, Shofner has been able to tie up an extra defensive back most of the season when most teams have found it necessary to double-team him. This has allowed quarterbacks Y. A. Tittle and Charley Conerly more latitude in throwing to other receivers and has opened up the running game.

Shofner is not about to claim that he'll be greased lightning that won't be touched by the ball-hawking Packers. The uncertainty of the cold weather and a defensive back named Jesse Whittenton cry "caution".

"I don't know whether I'll have the advantage playing on a frozen field or not. I've never done it before, at least not under conditions I've heard we might have to face in Green Bay.

"Whittenton is another thing," he went on. "He has always done a good job on me. I don't know if he does anything special or not, but it seems that ever since I came into the league, he has been that way. I can't even say if he uses anything different against me than any of the other defensive backs I've faced, but I do know that he is one of the best around."

When Shofner and Whittenton faced each other in the Packers' 20-17 regular season victory earlier this month, Del caught only one pass for 29 yards. His season total was 68 receptions for 1,125 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Symank Dons Pads in 1-Hour Packer Drill

Grass Still Green Under Stadium's Tarpaulin and Hay

GREEN BAY (AP)—All of the Packers and 200 fans were present Tuesday as Green Bay began the final week of workouts for Sunday National Football League title game with the New York Giants.

The fans took places atop four-foot snow piles ringing the frozen practice field to watch the Packers run through 60 minutes of no-contact drills.

New City Stadium, the scene of Sunday's clash, still is under its covering of tarpaulin, hay and 14 inches of snow. Club officials peeked under the tarp Tuesday and found the grass was still green.

Brisk Sale

And as the Packers worked out, the front office reported a "brisk sale" of tickets made available for public purchased Tuesday.

In the workouts, defensive back Johnny Symank was in pads for the first time since he suffered torn chest cartilege in the Los Angeles game. And fullback Jim Taylor, who came out of the same game with a sore back, took his place in the backfield but did not run.

Halfback Paul Hornung, flanker back Boyd Dowler and linebacker Ray Nitschke were all present, thanks to leave from their Army duties.

Chicago Cubs Hike Price of Box Seats

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Cub baseball fans will have to pay 50 cents more for a box seat at Wrigley Field next season.

The club said Tuesday it is boosting box seat prices from $2.50 to $3.00 (tax included). Children under 14 will pay $2 instead of $1.60.

The Cubs said the increase is necessary to meet rising costs and bring the price more in line with the average in other major league parks.

Lawrence Quintet Meets Powerful Pointers Friday

Vikings Bid for Season's First Win in Road Game

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

After a long holiday layoff, the Lawrence College Vikings will run into one of the powers of the Wisconsin State College Conference when they travel to Stevens Point Friday night.

Coach Don Boya re - grouped his cagers today for a series of drills that will run through Thursday afternoon.

Lawrence has not worked out for better than a week and a half, and Boya is hoping the team will report in "not too rusty" condition.

In Stevens Point, the Vikes will run into one of the highest scoring quintets in the WSCC. The Pointers have been averaging 82.6 points per game and twice have gone over the 100-point mark. Opponents have been allowed 67.2 points by the Stevens Point defense.

All Lettermen

All five starters for the Pointers are lettermen back from last year's team that won the conference title with a 10-2 record and had an overall mark of 16-6.

The Pointers have a 7-1 record, compared to an 0-6 mark for the Vikings. Lawrence losses have all been in Midwest Conference play.

Stevens Point's lone defeat was an upset at the hands of Platteville, 65-62. Victories have been recorded over St. Mary of Winona, Allen - Bradley, Winona State, Milton College, Oshkosh, University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee and the Pointer alumni squad.

The Pointer record will change tonight when Taylor University of Indiana visits the Stevens Point gym. Taylor (10-0) is one of the top rated small colleges in the nation.

Starters Listed

Starters for the Pointers and their scoring averages include forwards: Don O'Neill, 6-4 junior, 12.8 and Bill Kuse, 6-2 senior, 13.1; center, Chuck Millenbah, 6-4 junior, 7.9; guards: Bucky Wickman, 6-0 sophomore, 20.8, and Billl Nelson, 5-10 junior, 8.4.

Wickman, a former star cager at Preble High School, has been deadly on outside shooting. Nelson is from Manitowoc.

Boya said his starting lineup is set at four positions, with the fifth spot still up for grabs. Joel Ungrodt and Gary Just will be at guards, Luke Groser will get the nod at center and Jim Jordan will be at one forward spot.

Three men will be battling to gain the other forward position. John Hackworthy, Marty Gradman and Fred Flom are all in the running and Boya said he will not decide on the starter until after Thursday's workout.

Junior Paul Lange is expected to give added depth to the Lawrence squad if he has recovered from an attack of the flu which bothered him for the last two weeks.

49ers Sign Burrell, Rangy Rice End

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers announced Tuesday signing their seventh draft choice, John Burrell, a rangy end from Rice Institute.

Burrell also had been drafted by Dallas of the American Football League. The Texans picked him 25th.

Warriors Duel UW-M Tonight

Coach Eddie Hickey Takes Cautious Approach to Contest

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette basketball Coach Ed Hickey has taken a cautious approach to tonight's game with underdog University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

The Warrior coach has predicted that the kind of game the meeting will produce depends a lot on whether the Cardinals decide to mix and run with Marquette or play ball control.

A few years back, little St. Norbert trapped the Warriors on ball control and took a two-point victory.

The Warriors go into the game fresh from conquests of Wisconsin and Minnesota and seeking their fifth victory against three defeats. UWM will take a 2-6 record into the game.

Hickey hasn't tried to conceal his delight over the improvement of 6-foot-8 Len Jefferson at center. Dave Erickson, 6-foot-7, was tried at the post early in the season when the Warriors were tagged with their three defeats. Then Jefferson was moved into the pivot and showed the drive Hickey wanted

Erickson was switched back to forward where he will work with 6-foot-4 Bob Hornak Ron Glaser and Dick Nixon will start at the guards.

UWM Coach Russ Rebholz said Tuesday he would return to his regular starting lineup after some experimenting. But the Cardinals can't match the Warriors in height.

Center Roger Kriete, 6-foot-4, is the tallest Cardinal. Rounding out the starting five are Al Cottrell, 6-foot-1, and Jerry Nietzel, 6-foot-3, at forwards, and co-captain Ed Markunas, 6-foot-1, and Rom Rebyolz, 5-foot-11, at guards.

Redskins Confirm Mitchell Is 'Veteran' In Ernie Davis Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins confirmed Tuesday that they are getting the speedy Negro halfback, Bobby Mitchell, from the Cleveland Browns as part of the trade that surrendered Syracuse star Ernie Davis to Cleveland.

It was announced two weeks ago that the Redskins were surrendering their rights to Davis to Cleveland in return for rookie halfback Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois University and "a veteran player."

Reports that the "veteran" would be Mitchell were confirmed Tuesday. All three of the men involved are Negroes.

Robinson's Hand Injury Forces Delay in Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — An injury to Sugar Ray Robinson's left hand forced a postponement from Jan. 6 to Feb. 3 of the former middleweight champion's return bout with Denny Moyer of Portland, Ore., at Madison Square Garden.

An examination Tuesday showed the 41-year-old veteran had injured the second and third knuckles of his left hand. There was no fracture, however, according to X-rays taken at the offices of the State Athletic Commission.

Robinson said he first injured the hand in knocking out Wilfie Graves in Pittsburgh Dec. 8. He aggravated the injury in hitting a sparmate last Saturday.

Spahn's Feats Ranked Second

Packers' Performance Rates as Top State Sports Story of Year

MILWAUKEE (AP)—No single performance could top the Green Bay Packers tremendous bid for the National Football League championship as the top Wisconsin sports story of 1961. But Warren Spahn gave it a try.

The inspired performances of the Packers on the one hand, and of baseball's greatest lefthander on the other, were far ahead of the field in The Associated Press year-end poll of sports experts on state newspapers, radio and television stations.

Still to Come

The Packers dropped their first game of the season to Detroit, then lost only one more before they clinched their second straight Western Division championship. They wound up the regular season with an 11-3 mark, the best in 20 years.

The accomplishment, with the NFL title game at Green Bay still to come Dec. 31, drew 238 votes from the sports authorities as the top story of the year.

Only 26 votes behind was Warren Spahn, whose year piled more superlatives on a long-incredible career. The nonpareil fired another no-hit no-run game, won the 300th victory of his career—and nine more, by season's end—and for the 12th time completed the season with 20 or more victories.

Baseball occupied the No. 3 position as well, as 155 votes were cast for the story of Charlie Dressen's sudden firing, and his replacement as manager by the Braves' executive vice president, Birdie Tebbetts.

College football held fourth place, with 148 votes going to Milt Bruhn's Badgers, who wallowed like scoreless wonders at season's start, then found their confidence and their weapons and went on to a driving finish in the Big Ten.

Wisconsin's finest weapon, by the way, the aerial blit of quarterback Ron Miller and end Pat Richter, won sixth place in its own right. The combination racked up a flock of school and Big Ten records, and won for both members mention on the All America listings. Richter, a junior, was named to the second team after making a strong bid for the first team. The senior quarterback was given honorable mention.

Separate Package

In between the University of Wisconsin newsmakers was a separate package of Packer troubles —the calling up active military duty of three regulars. Flanker back Boyd Dowler and linebacker Ray Nitschke were called to Ft. Lewis, Wash., and halfbackPaul Hornung to Ft. Riley, Kas.

The "desperate" measures by which the summoned stars managed to fly back to take part in critical games during the campaign attracted 137 votes for fifth place among the year's top sports events.

And Hornung's personal struggles, crowned with success as he won the league scoring championship for the third straight year and was chosen the league's most valuable player despite missing seven weeks of practice and two regular games, was placed 10th on the list with 36 votes.

A high school contest won seventh place in the rare atmosphere of major sports events, when 71 votes were cast for Milwaukee Lincoln's dramatic overtime victory over little Rice Lake for the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association basketball championship.

The Braves' decline to fourth place, their lowest finish during their Milwaukee history, was one of the less cheerful notes among the top stories. In what was privately — and not so privately—selected as target year for another National League pennant, Milwaukee nearly wound up in second division instead. The sad account drew 63 votes.

And rounding out the top ten was the ninth place selection, catcher Joe Torre's fine rookie showing for the Braves as he took over for the injured Del Crandall. The vote total was 42.

Other fine stories falling just short of the top ten were, in order:

Milwaukee's sale of outfielder Frank Thomas in late November.

The earlier trade of Mel Roach that brought Thomas to the Braves and started him on a slugging comeback.

Don Savage, Former Yankee, Dies After Year-Long Illness

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP)—Donald A. Savage, former third baseman and outfielder for the New York Yankees, died Monday night at Mountainside Hospital after a year-long illness. He was 42.

Savage played for the Yankees during the wartime years of 1944 and 1945. The following year he was with the Newark Bears of the International League. He quit baseball in 1947 after aggravating a knee injury that plagued him since his sophomore year on the Bloomfield High School football team.

Savage also had a history of diabetes, which he contracted in 1941 and which caused him to miss the 1942 baseball season.

Ohio State to Meet Washington in First Tournament Contest

Los Angeles Classic Big Challenge for Unbeaten Buckeyes

BY BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mighty Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, heads into the Los Angeles Classic tonight—the biggest challenge it is likely to encounter until the postseason tournaments.

Waiting for the Jerry Lucas-led Buckeyes are three of the top 10 teams in the country: Southern California, Purdue and West Virginia. A capable Utah team form the principal opposition for all-winning Ohio State.

The Buckeyes take on Washington in first-round play in the classic, one of the most important of the holiday tournaments. Also kicking off tonight are the Big Eight affair in Kansas City and the Far West in Portland, Ore.

The last two first-round games in the All-College tourney at Oklahoma City also are on tap. The survivors of first-round action in the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York and the Quaker City in Philadelphia take the day off.

Kansas State, fifth-ranked nationally and sporting a 7-1 mark, is the team to beat in the Big Eight affair. They're paced by 6-foot-8 Mike Wroblewski and his 20-point average. The Far West appeared to be up for grabs with any of the eight entrants capable of going the distance.

Los Angeles Classic: Fourth-ranked Southern California (6-1) vs. ninth-ranked Purdue (5-1) and UCLA (3-5) vs. Army (2-2) this afternoon and Washington (5-1) vs. Ohio State (7-0) and Utah (8-1) vs. seventh-ranked West Virginia (6-1) tonight.

Big Eight: Nebraska (3-5) vs. Kansas State (7-1) and Oklahoma State (7-1) vs. Missouri (4-4) tonight and Oklahoma (1-6) vs. Kansas (34) and Colorado (4-3) vs. Iowa State (34) Thursday night.

Far West: Washington State (3-2) vs California (4-5) and Oregon State (4-1) vs. Michigan (2-4) tonight and Idaho (4-3) vs. Portland and Oregon (2-3) vs. Michigan State (4-1) Thursday night.

jor tournaments Tuesday night—the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York, the Quaker City in Philadelphia and the All-College in Oklahoma City—produced some mild upsets but generally went according to form.

Two previously unbeaten teams, Cornell and New York University, were eliminated from the exclusive list. NYU (now 6-1) fell before unbeaten Dayton (7-0) 75-67 in Holiday Festival first-round match while Bradley (6-2) stopped touring Cornell's winning streak at six with a 85-59 trouncing of the Big Red in a nontourney game.

Second-ranked Cincinnati had no trouble eliminating St. John's (N.Y.) 97-68, Wisconsin handed slumping Providence its third straight loss, 95-84 and LaSalle toyed with Dartmouth 87-66 in other Holiday Festival games.

The semifinal pairings Thursday have LaSalle (5-1) vs. defending NCAA champion Cincinnati (7-1) and unbeaten Dayton (7-0) vs. Wisconsin (5-2).

Sophomore Ron Bonham came off the bench, turned in an outstanding shooting performance and led Cincinnati to its victory. The Bearcats were trailing 35-32 when he entered, and the blond sharpshooter quickly staked them to a 44-37 lead that stood the rest of the way. He hit on 12 of 16 one-handers and finished with 27 points.

Unbeaten Records

In Philadelphia, Villanova and Duquesne retained unbeaten records with easy first-round victories and will meet in a semi-final match Thursday. Villanova crushed Niagara 72-45 while third-ranked Duquesne bombed Wyoming 64-47.

In other Quaker City first-round matches Penn tumbled Holy Cross 73-64 and Iowa stopped Penn 67-48.

In the only close one, Penn's triumph over the Crusaders, the Quakers won it by bottling up Jack Foley. Foley, the No. 2 scorer in the country with a 32-point average, was held to 12 points and hit only three of 11 tries from the floor.

Houston came from behind and beat Texas Christian 82-76 and Utah State took Oklahoma City 80-71 in first-round games in the All-College. Seattle puts its 5-0 record on the line against Bowling Green (5-1) and eighth-ranked Wichita (8-1) meets Texas A&M (4-2) in other first rounders tonight.

Trager Balks At Paying $2,500 Fine

CHICAGO (AP)—Dave Trager, owner of the Chicago Packers who were fined $2,500 by President Maurice Podoloff of the National Basketball Association, said Tuesday he would pay it "only under duress."

The Packers were fined Monday night for arriving an hour late for their game with the Detroit Pistons in the opener of an NBA doubleheader in Madison Square Garden. They defeated the Pistons 118-97.

Podoloff was among the 14,698 spectators and fined the Packers on the spot. He said the club, playing its first game since Wednesday night, had sufficient opportunity to get to New York on time.

"The fine definitely was not called for," said Trager. "I will pay it only if I have to and only under duress. It's the general practice of the team to keep its players at home until the day of the game.

"We were told the weather would be clear and the flight from Chicago would leave on schedule. Unfortunately, we had mechanical trouble, but we left on the earliest flight possible."

Assists Help Bathgate Build NHL Scoring Lead

MONTREAL (AP)—New York's Andy Bathgate, picking up assists at a record rate, has built his lead to 10 points over Montreal's Claude Provost in their race for the National Hockey League scoring title.

Bathgate, shifted to center in a reshuffling of Ranger lines last week, collected seven assists and a goal in three games and pushed his season total to 13 goals and 33 assists for 46 points, according to official statistics released today.

Jacques Plante of Montreal allowed only six goals in three games and pulled into a tie with Toronto's Johnny Bower for the goal-tending lead. Plante has a 2.45 average on 81 goals in 33 starts while Bower and his occasional subs in the Toronto goal have allowed 76 goals in 31 games, also a 2.45 per-game pace.

Nonchalant Beatnik, Who Hid Corpse in Closet, Sent to Jail

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — The nonchalant man who went ahead with a beatnik party—though an early arrival had died of narcotics and was nailed up in a closet—was sentenced to a year in jail Tuesday.

The sentence was imposed in District Court on Ronald Dunajski, 21, on a charge of possessing a hypodermic needle.

Police, who broke in on Dunajski's noisy party Nov. 26, found 30 persons dancing in the dark. When they opened the nailed up closet, they found the body of Richard Girard, 21, of Salem.

They quoted Dunajski as saying Girard collapsed and died after both had taken a shot. He said he put the body in the closet and nailed the door so other guests would not find it and halt the party.

Three New York Giants, who have been on the injured list, are shown Tuesday preparing to rejoin their teammates for drills. The players, from left, are Alex Webster, Roosevelt Brown and Joe Walton. All are expected to be in action Sunday when the Giants play the Packers in Green Bay for the National Football League championship.

3 Injured Players Join New York's Workout

Sherman Says His Charges Appear Rested, Refreshed

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The team's three cripples — halfback Alex Webster, end Joe Walton and tackle Roosevelt Brown — were back in action when the New York Giants resumed workouts Tuesday for next Sunday's National Football League title game at Green Bay.

"It's too early to tell whether they'll be able to go full speed," said Coach Allie Sherman. "I am hopeful they'll be okay. We'll need all the offensive punch we can get."

"If we're to reverse those two losses to the Packers (20-17 in an exhibition game and 20-17 later in a regular season contest), we're going to have to control the ball," Sherman added. "They have a hard-hitting attack."

Morning Drills

The Giants, idle over the Christmas holidays, worked out at Yankee Stadium Tuesday afternoon. Morning drills are scheduled Wednesday, Thursday and Friday before the team takes off from LaGuardia Airport at 1 p.m. Friday by chartered plane.

The game between the Eastern and West Division champions of the NFL is scheduled to start at 1 p.m. CST (2 p.m. EST) in Green Bay's City Stadium. The Packers rule a 2½ point favorite.

Sherman said the Giants were unswayed by the advance odds or the fact that they had suffered two straight defeats at the hands of the Green Bay team.

"We take every game as it comes," he added. "I don't mean the boys aren't particularly steamed up for this one — they are, naturally, because so much is at stake—but we aren't thinking about what they did or what we didn't do in the past.

Sherman said his proteges, who had begun showing signs of weariness during the latter part of the rigorous stretch run, appeared rested and refreshed from the holiday layoff.

The Green Bay players causing him the greatest concern, Sherman said are Jim Taylor, the line-splitting fullback who gained 186 yards against the Giants in their last game, and the quarterback, Bart Starr.

"We have to throw up a balanced defense—we can't point to stopping anybody," he added. "This Taylor is a great runner. He'll hurt you any time. And Starr is an effective passer, with a lot of good receivers to throw to.

"We have to be ready to stop anything they throw up at us and hope we can get the ball, and keep it."

South's Win Margin Cut To 19 Points

(From Press Dispatches)

South's victory margin over North in the annual College All-Star football game Christmas night was reduced from 25 to 19 points by the game referee Tuesday.

Referee Pete Williams credited South with a 35-16 victory and not 35-10 as was reported after the game.

The point mix-up resulted on the final play of the game when South quarterback Bobby Ply was tackled in the end zone. It appeared that the North had scored a safety and hundreds of spectators rushed onto the field. Williams said Ply had fumbled and a North player recovered for a touchdown.

With the crowd on the field it was impossible for the North team to try for the extra point and Frank Howard, South coach, conceded a two-point conversion to the North. Therefore, instead of a two-point safety the North was awarded an eight-point play.

Fraser quickly showed he's still quite a tennis player.

After the teams alternated holding service in the first two games, Fraser's volleying forced Sirola into four errors in the third game on his own service. The Australians broke Pietrangeli in the fifth game for a 4-1 lead, and wrapped it up in the eighth game when Emerson whistled home a service ace at set point.

Fraser and Emerson, who beat the same Italian pair in four sets during last year's 4-1 Australian victory, broke Sirola in the fifth and ninth games to win the second set. Pietrangeli drew a cheer from the perspiring crowd when he held his service in the seventh game at love—only the second love game of the first two sets.

But the Italians couldn't save the set. Emerson held service for a 5-3 lead, then broke Sirola with loss of only one point to close it out.

It was more of the same in the third set, with the Italians unable to break through the Aussies and having to battle for every point on their own services.

Crane Clouts 708 Series

Accounts for Sixth Appleton Men's National Honor Count

Ray Crane blasted a 708 series in the Major Scratch Bowling League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday night for Appleton's sixth men's national honor count of the season.

Crane started off with a 189 game and then smashed 264 and 255 lines. He had 16 strikes in the two high games.

Crane bowls regularly once a week in the Major League and fills in occasionally as a substitute in two other loops.

The 708 set was the third national honor score in eight days by Appleton keglers. Don Lund pounded a 708 Dec. 19 and "Windy" Wendorf rocked a 717 last Wednesday.

Fourth of Career

The national set was Crane's fourth of his career. He started bowling in 1933 and his peak effort was a 750 back in 1937.

Crane's South Side Service team had a one-game high of 1,090 and a series total of 2,994. Behnke's and South Side Service are tied for the league lead with 31-17 records.

Six series counts which topped the 600 mark were rolled in the league including Bud Stach, 237-637; Wally Moore, 234-233-625; Al Seemann, 620; "Kat" Kassube, 613; Ed Flood, 233-604 and Bob Schmitz, 257-603.

Other honor scores included: Gib Nabbefeld, 226-598; Joe Gregorious, 225-596; Bob Kositzke, 247-592; Norm Joecks 581; Bob Jensen, 226-578; Bill Noffke, 577; Bud Jentz, 576; Earl Lorenz, 575; George Panke, 573 and Gene Blake, 233-571.

Gates Closed For Penn State Grid Practice

Nittany Lions Meet Georgia Tech in Gator Bowl Saturday

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) Coach "Rip" Engle ordered the gates closed for Penn State's football practice this afternoon.

No spectators and no newspapermen, Engle decreed as he prepared to drill his Nittany Lions for Saturday's Gator Bowl game against Georgia Tech at Jacksonville.

"We aren't planning any major changes," Engle said, "but we use something a little different for every game. We may go back and resurrect some for this one."

He said this will be the only closed practice. Thursday's session will be supervised but newsmen will be admitted, he said, and the final light drill Friday will be merely for limbering up. The Friday practice may be held in the Gator Bowl.

After Penn State's 46-man squad arrived a little late Tuesday, Engle had them on the high school practice field until dark trying to regain the peak form they reached in the final game of the regular season—beating Pittsburgh 47-26.

Best Effort

"I don't know for sure whether we can get there again," Engle said. "That was our best effort, particularly on offense."

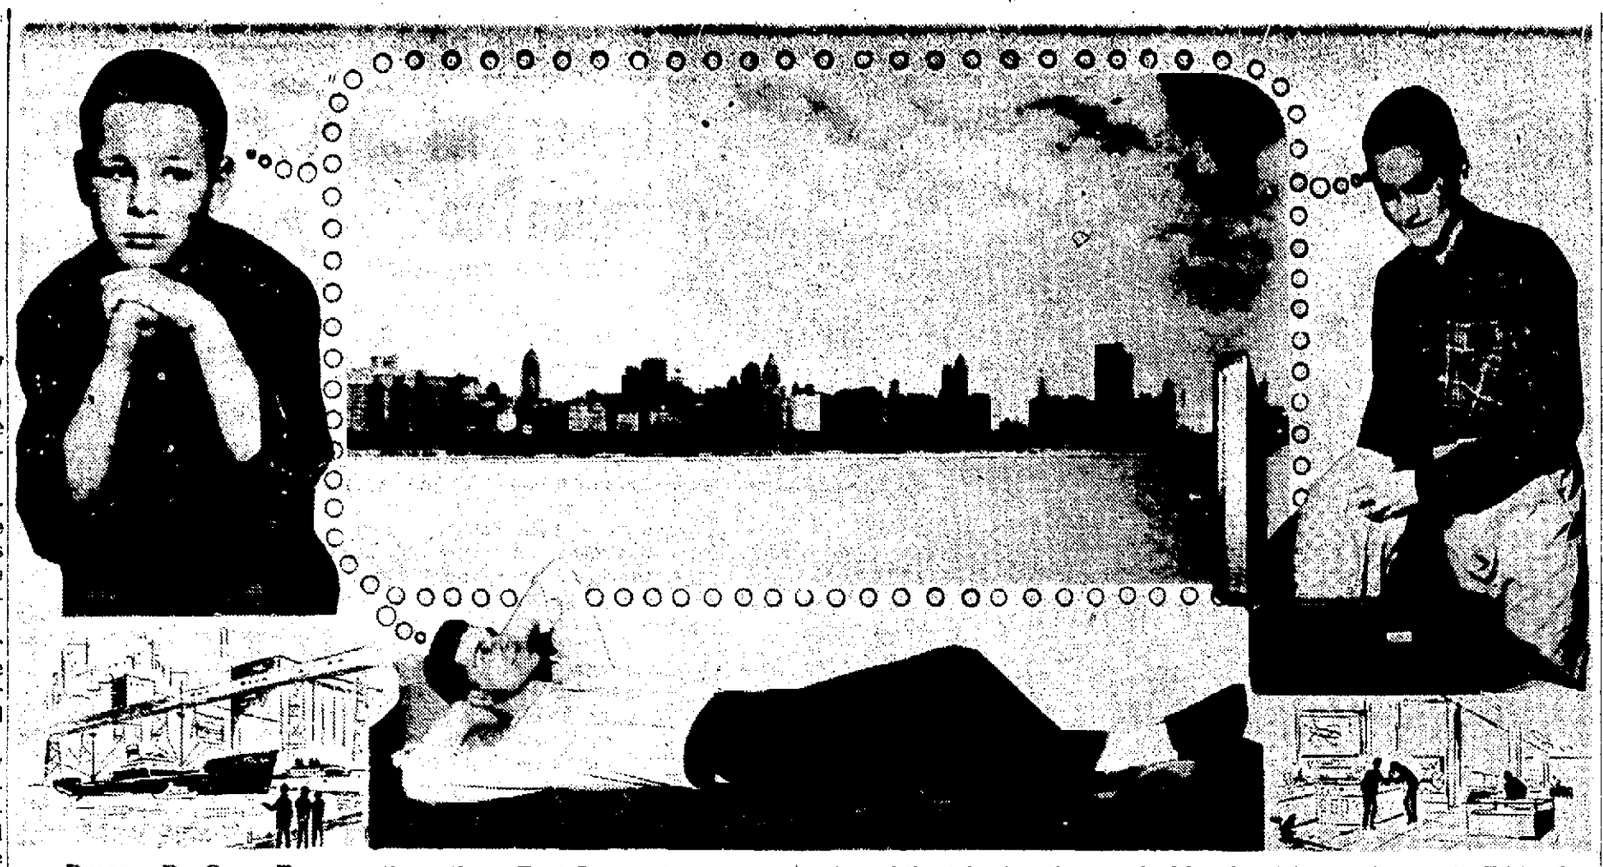

Halfback Roger Kochman, running star of the Penn State attack, was in fine form in the first workout on Florida soil.

So was quarterback Galen Hall, termed by his coach "an excellent thinker on the field and as fine a college quarterback as we have had."

Hall wasn't drafted by the pros this season. He probably isn't considered a top-notch passer for pro competition. But, says Engle and the other Penn State coaches, Hall is more than adequate as a passer, fine as a runner and absolutely great as a leader.

Joe Paterno, offensive backfield coach, said "Hall is so important because of the confidence he inspires in our other players. They trust him the while way. That's why we look like a real team when he's at the controls."

Engle said the starting backfield with Hall probably will have Kochman and either Hal Powell or Don Hayes at halfbacks and Buddy Torris at fullback.

Dreams Do Come True, as these three Post-Crescent newscarriers have discovered. Winners of the Mystery Seal circulation contest, they left this morning for a three-day trip to Chicago. Dreaming of the trip that they worked hard to win are, from left, Edward Prunty, Bear Creek; Connie Rush, 1821 E. Melrose Ave., Appleton, and Lee Starck, 635 W. McKinley St., Neenah.

Joe VanderWyst Socks 253 Line In Little Chute

Joe VanderWyst pounded a 253 singleton, and Arlin Burt toppled a 602 series to pace the Businessmen's League at Little Chute Recreation.

Boots TV finished as first round champs with a 33-12 mark. Other honor scores were hit by Tony Wyngaard, 559; Clayton DeBruin, 226, 575, and Marvin DeBruin, 245, 597.

Bill Bolwerk rolled a 225 game, and Gordon Breier a 591 series to pace the Kimberly Mill League at Jerry's Lanes. Paper Machine No. 1 leads with a 31-14 mark. Other high scores were hit by Elmer Kobs, 556 and Bolwerk, 579.

In the KRA Bird Couples League at Jerry's Lanes, Pauline Plier rolled a 190 game and Vincent Vissers a 556 set.

Bob Eiting pounded a 234 game and a 625 series to lead the Hollandtown Country League at Van Abel's Alleys. Keller Implement with a 29½-15½ mark holds a 1-game lead.

Bill Landreman posted a 226 game and Dan Voet a 608 series to top the Knights of Columbus League at the Bowling Bar, Kaukauna.

75-100 Boys Sign Up For Holiday Tourneys

MENASHA — Between 75 and 100 youngsters signed up for the Menasha Recreation department's fifth and sixth grade and junior high school holiday basketball tournaments.

From four to six teams will compete in each tourney. Practice games were slated today and the double elimination affairs are slated to start Thursday. Free throw tournaments tentativley have been set for next Tuesday.

Mississippi Has Fabulous Bowl Record Under Vaught

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP) — "We're going to try to flip with them and flop when they don't."

That's the tactic Mississippi plans to use against Texas' fabled "flip-flop" offense in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas New Year's Day.

"We hope it will work," said Frank (Bruiser) Kinard, the Rebels' offensive line coach and one of the greatest football players Mississippi ever produced.

Another part of the Vaught legend is the Mississippi coach's fabulous bowl record since 1956.

It all started in the 1956 Cotton Bowl when Eagle Day, the Mississippi gambler, led the Rebs to a come-from-behind 14-13 victory over Texas Christian. Perhaps the happiest man in the Cotton Bowl Stadium was Vaught, even though his alumni had been defeated.

Vaught, an All-America at TCU, hasn't lost a bowl game since—and the 1962 Cotton Bowl will be the sixth post-season appearance for the Rebels since then.

Since that 1956 Cotton Bowl, Vaught has compiled a fantastic record of 50 victories, seven losses and two ties for a nifty .864 average.

His worst season was 1956, if you can call 7-3 a bad year.

Starting with the 1958 Sugar Bowl, when they walloped Texas 39-7 (and the Longhorns think they can avenge that defeat this year), Mississippi has gone to a post-season classic at the end of each regular season.

The Rebels own victories over Florida (7-3 in the 1958 Gator Bowl); LSU (21-0 in the 1960 Sugar Bowl); Rice (14-6 in the 1961 Sugar Bowl).

Rebels Will Best Texas' Air Defense

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mississippi is favored to win the Cotton Bowl game next Monday because of a passing attack that ranked No. 2 in the nation.

Texas generally is conceded to be superior on the ground but while its touchdown output there was more than Mississippi the margin wasn't as wide as Mississippi's in the air.

The Rebels threw for 19 touchdowns compared to 11 for Texas. They also averaged 182.7 yards per game along the air lanes, which is more than twice as much as Texas held its opponents to. The Texas defense yielded 84.9.

Only 5 Aerial TDs

Mississippi completed 54 per cent of its passes—109 out of 202. Texas allowed its opposition in its 10-game schedule to complete only 42.7 per cent, 86 out of 201.

Texas gave up only five touchdowns through the air and only one of those was of any consequence. Texas ran up such big scores in most of its games that the opposition did its scoring on the reserves. When the top defensive men were in there the Longhorns threw up a virtual brick wall.

Texas Christian's Sonny Gibbs tossed a 50-yard scoring pass to Buddy Iles and that was the only touchdown through the air that hurt Texas—it handed the Longhorns their lone defeat of the season. Otherwise TCU didn't do much with its passing, having two throws intercepted.

Hewitt's Second In BABA Circuit

NEENAH — Hewitt's Machines has a 1-1 record in the 3-team southern division of the Badger Amateur Basketball Association. The Machinemen defeated Kimberly but lost to Green Bay. The Bays lead with a 2-0 record while Kimberly is third with 0-2.

Kimberly is scheduled to visit Hewitt's Saturday in the next game on the slate. Kimberly's Hank Peerenboom leads the circuit in scoring with 35 points.

Hortonville tops the Central division with 2-0. Shiocton and Manawa have 0-1 and Marion and New London haven't played. Birnamwood paces the northern division with 2-0. Bonduel has 1-1, Gresham 0-2 and Reservation 0-0

Brown, Davey Moore Grab Top Ring Awards for 1961

NEW YORK (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown and featherweight king Davey Moore were awarded the top honors today in Ring Magazine's copyrighted rankings of 1961.

Brown, the 35-year-old clouter from Baton Rouge, La., and the 28-year-old Moore of Columbus, Ohio, were the only champions placed alone in the category in their respective divisions.

Light heavyweights Archie Moore, recognized by New York, Massachusetts and Europe as champion of the 175-pounders, was placed second behind Harold Johnson, of Philadelphia, hailed as king by the National Boxing Association.

Gene Fullmer, the NBA-recognized middleweight champion from West Jordan, Utah, was placed on top of the 160-pounders with Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., second and Terry Downes of England, third.

Emile Griffith of New York, who won and then lost in welterweight title fights with Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba, was rated first ahead of the reigning champion, Paret, in the 147-pound class.

Newscarriers Win Three-Day Trip to Chicago

Leaving for Chicago this morning were Connie Rush, 1821 E. Melrose Ave., Appleton; Edward Prunty, Bear Creek, and Lee Starck, 635 W. McKinley, Neenah.

Their tour of the city started at the top, with a visit to the observation deck of the Prudential Building, followed by a bus tour of the city. Tonight the boys will see "Seven Wonders of the World" in Cinerama.

On Thursday's schedule are tours of the police department, the Museum of Science and Industry and the Chicago Tribune. In the evening they'll attend a basketball doubleheader at the stadium.

The boys will visit the Board of Trade Building and Adler Planetarium Friday morning. After a trip through Field Museum Friday afternoon, they'll head back to Appleton.

Nicklaus to Make Pro Debut Jan. 4

LOS ANGELES (AP)—National amateur golf champion Jackie Nicklaus is turning pro to play in the $50,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

This announcement came Tuesday from the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the tourney Jan. 4-8.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Both, according to research specialists Blood and Wolfe. They find that young couples enjoy companionship in doing tasks together—such as the dishes. With length of marriage, however, husband and wife appreciate what the other does at his or her own tasks, especially when these tasks fit together for common purposes and goals. Companionship is now expressed through separate contributions to the total whole.

6 — 11 — 16 —

In the years that precede adolescence, children are usually most ungrateful for anything that is done for them. This is the time when child development specialists find children most apt to be inconsiderate of others' feelings, and unfeeling in their callous acceptance of favors. Dr. Fritz Redl of Wayne State university says that at this stage, "The worst meal at the neighbors', at which they weren't even welcome, may be described more glowingly in its glory than the best-planned feast that you arranged for their birthday." You are wise if you don't insist on gratitude at this stage when it doesn't come easy.

The farm wife's major problem is work!

True — False —

False, at least, only indirectly. The main concern of farm wives interviewed in a recent study was recreation. They wanted to get out more and to have a change of scenery. They did not care too much about what they did, as long as they did something different. Since their husbands usually worked long hours at hard physical labor, they were often too tired to take their wives out, thus increasing dissatisfaction.

LaSalle Coach Lauds Cincinnati

Hustling Badger '5' Captures Crowd's Fancy in New York

BY JOE REICHLER
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP)—"I don't see how we're going to beat them," LaSalle Coach Dudey Moore moaned after watching deep and talented Cincinnati in action in the ECAC Holiday Basketball Festival.

"The way they played today they must be the best team in the country—better even than Ohio State."

Cincinnati, ranked second in the nation and the defending NCAA champion, rolled over St. John's (N.Y.) 97-68 Tuesday in first round action and Thursday meets Moore's Explorers in a semifinal.

Round of Four

LaSalle gained the round of four with a 87-60 victory over Dartmouth. Dayton, now 7-0, dropped New York University from the ranks of the unbeaten 75-67 and Wisconsin upset Providence 95-84 in other first round matches.

The two doubleheaders in Madison Square Garden attracted nearly 30,000 spectators, 13,186 in the afternoon and 16,797 at night.

Dayton tries Wisconsin in the other championship semifinal Thursday night while afternoon consolation games match St. John's and Dartmouth, and NYU with Providence. All teams are idle today.

Gordon Hatton, a 6-foot bundle of energy, was Dayton's big gun as the Flyers romped to their seventh victory without a defeat. Only a sophomore Gordon scored 27 points.

It was Wisconsin, however, that captured the fancy of the crowd with its hustling and aggressive tactics against the more experienced Providence five. The Badgers literally ran the taller Friars into the ground as five of their players scored in double figures. Ron Jackson led with 25 points but top scoring honors went to Vinnie Ernst of Providence with 32.

Chrysler May Produce New Turbine Car

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chrysler Corp. displayed an experimental turbine-driven automobile today and made it clear that mass production was being considered.

The company said it planned to put the cars in the hands of a relatively few selected customers later this year.

Results of the tests, further engineering and cost studies, and consumer reaction could lead to volume production, said Robert Anderson, vice president.

Radical Departure

Such cars would be a radical departure from the conventional piston-driven vehicles, of which there are now about 70 million on the road in the United States.

The turbine engines reportedly have one-fifth as many parts as reciprocating engines and require no oil changes or antifreeze.

Speculation was that if tests are successful the car will be manufactured in volume within five years. But Chrysler displayed its optimism by announcing booklets on the car will be available at all dealers shortly after the first of the year.

Trend Exists

George Huebner Jr., executive engineer, told a news conference, "We would not be standing before you today if we did not believe the trend which we have started already exists."

The gas turbine runs on any fuel that can be sent through a pipe and that will burn with air.

"Even French perfume could be used," said Huebner. Gasoline would be the more popular and accessible fuel, he explained.

Carl Yastrzemski Signs for 1962

BOSTON (AP)—Outfielder Carl Yastrzemski became the first Boston Red Sox player Tuesday to return his signed baseball contract for the 1962 season.

Brightman Will Coach Saint '5'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Al Brightman, who coached Seattle University for eight years, was named coach of the San Francisco Saints of the American Basketball League Tuesday.

Brightman succeeds Phil Woolpert, former coach at the University of San Francisco, who was fired just before the ABL season opened.

Until Brightman's selection, the post was held on an interim basis by Kevin O'Shea, the Saints' general manager.

Former Swim, Grid Stars to be Married

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Carin Cone, former world record holder for the 200-meter backstroke swim, and Albert Vanderbush III, 1960 captain of Army's football team, will be married next June, Miss Cone's family announced Tuesday.

Miss Cone, 21, was National Amateur Athletic Union champion in both the 110-and 220-yard backstroke. She won a silver medal for the 100-meter backstroke in the 1956 Olympics. She is now a student at the University of Maryland.

Vanderbush, 22, played guard for Army for three seasons, graduating from West Point last June. He is serving as a lieutenant in the Army at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Writers Pick Gophers To Win in Rose Bowl

Coaches Play It Cozy, Refuse To Forecast

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Football writers, gathered here from around the nation for the Rose Bowl game, picked Minnesota Tuesday as the likely winner.

But the head coaches, Bill Barnes of UCLA and Murray Warmath of Minnesota, played it cozy. Neither would predict or even hint at a score.

The writers voted 69 for the Gophers and 36 for UCLA.

The occasion was a luncheon dedicating the new $360,000 press box, served in the box itself.

In attendance were Tournament of Roses officials, queen Martha Sissel and her rose court princesses, Mayor C. Lewis Edwards of Pasadena and dignitaries of the two universities.

"We're going to be ready," said Barnes. Turning toward his old friend Warmath, he added, "and I know you are too, Murray. I know how hard you have worked your boys because I remember how hard you worked us back at Tennessee."

Warmath was an assistant coach and Barnes a player at Tennessee some 20 years ago.

Infant's Death Raises Highway Toll to 882

Fatal Accident Occurred in Western Milwaukee County

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of an infant in one accident and of an old man injured earlier in another raised Wisconsin's 1961 highway death toll today to 882, compared with 912 a year ago.

Anne Reinhold, the seven-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reinhold of the Milwaukee suburb of Wauwatosa, was injured fatally Tuesday in a two-car collision on Highway 100 in western Milwaukee County.

The child had been riding in an infant's chair in the front seat of a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Roberta Reinhold, 26. The first officer to reach the scene found the mother holding her daughter in her arms.

Respiration Attempted

The officer, Sgt. Ray Beck, said he attempted mouth-to-mouth respiration and an ambulance crew continued resuscitation efforts en route to a hospital where the child was pronounced dead.

The mother was in poor condition with shock and possible internal injuries.

The driver of the other car was identified by Beck as Melvin F. Rickmeier, 59, of Plymouth. Beck said Rickmeier was booked on a charge of reckless driving and released under bond of $200. The officer said witnesses related that Rickmeier's car went through a red light. Rickmeier, his wife, Anna, 60, and a passenger in their car, Raymond Zimmerman, 56, of Plymouth, were treated at a hospital for minor injuries.

Charles Krempien, 82, of Menomonee Falls died today at Waukesha Memorial Hospital of injuries received Dec. 17 when he was struck by a car while crossing a street in the city.

Time for Change, Charley Says, In Discussing Proposed Calendar

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An interesting but insignificant fact is that we are now about to wave a casual "good-bye" to the strange numbered year which can be read precisely the same when it is upside down or right side up.

House

We have not had such a numerical situation in the year's title for 80 years when we lived with which had the added attraction of being correct when it was read from right to left, left to right or upside down.

We will not see its like of the numerical 1961 for more than 5,000 years when, in 6009 we will be able to read the flip side as correctly as it does when in its every day order.

More significant than these statistics is the possible, if not probable, fact that the people of the world 5,000 years from now will have proven sufficiently enlightened to have the "new" world calendar instead of the tired, inadequate one we use today.

Presuming that the world is still around and 5,000 years have passed, it seems reasonable to think that the populace of it may be wise enough to have scuttled the present calendar which has been only good enough to use until a better one came along. And one has.

The present calendar, used since the ancient one was abolished by Pope Gregory XIII in March of 1582, is simply too unwieldy to be as efficient as the one which is presently available.

Called "The world calendar," the projected calendar has numerous advantages. It would give us 12 months of exactly equal quarters.

It would give us a year of 364 days by which we would temporarily put aside the 365th, a fractional day.

It would give us quarter - years of exactly the same number of days — 91.

It would give us equal half years of exactly the same number of days — 91.

It would give us days with the same date for each month. If Monday would arrive on the 7th, 14, 21st and 28th of January, as it does this year, it would arrive on those precise dates in every January.

The new calendar would give us every year, every quarter-year and every week which begins logically on the first day of the week, Sunday.

Every month would have 26 days, plus Sundays.

Every year would be the same. Holidays would always fall on the same date and day, every year.

The 365th day, to be known as "W" day and called Worldsday, is placed at the end of the 364th day year which would be a world holiday and placed between Dec. 30 and Sunday, Jan. 1.

The new calendar would be perpetual. Everything that has anything to do with time and money would be benefitted because of the orderly arrangement of time-periods in the world calendar.

Time Periods Same

Time periods for work would be accurate and absolutely witho u t variation.

Farmers would benefit because the quarterly divisions of the calendar have seasonal balance and outlook.

People who make schedules, like those in transportation, will be delighted b e c a u s e this year's schedule would be exactly like last year's and exactly like next year's — and every other year.

Christmas would always be on Monday, Dec. 25. Saturday would be the last shopping day and Sunday — as in this year — is the day for spiritual preparation

There is a day, tenatively selected, upon which the change over from the present Gregorian to the world calendar could be made. This date is Jan. 1, 1967, because on that date, the new and old calendars would coincide.

Change, however, is always resisted and — well, let's wait 5,000 years and see what will happen.

A reward is going wanting.

The 11-year-old girl who assisted a woman who had fallen on the ice near the Appleton Elks Club about 11 a.m. last Thursday is to be rewarded for her efforts.

But, no one knows who the girl is, where she came from or to where she vanished after running to the aid of a fallen pedestrian. The little girl tried to help the woman to her feet, but saw she was bleeding so she ran a block away to the woman's husband's office.

The little girl can collect some overdue thanks and the reward by calling Kenneth Dickinson at RE 3-3423 or RE 3-2991.

State Gives Chilton Seniors Aptitude Tests

CHILTON — Forty-four Chilton High School seniors were given general aptitude tests by the Wisconsin State Employment Service, according to Ralph Layman, guidance counselor at the school.

The battery of examinations, regarded by Layman as the finest aptitude test available today, determines the students' ability in finger and manual dexterity, verbal and mathematical ability, fields of interest and ability to view three-dimensional objects.

When the test scores are tabulated, representatives of the employment service will meet with students and interpret the tests with them.

Layman said the test results may be used to aid in obtaining employment anywhere in Wisconsin.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Do not say, "The four men will partake in a race." Say, "will COMPETE in a race," or, "PARTICIPATE in a race."

Often misspelled: Incipient (in the first stage). Insipient (stupid).

Synonyms: Kin, affinity, alliance, birth, blood, descent, family, kind, kindred, race, relationship.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: jeremiad; a lamenting and denunciatory complaint; a dolorous tirade. (Pronounce jehr-ee-migh-add, accent third syllable). "The discontented woman launched herself into a lengthy jeremiad."

Buffalo Stars in Wagon Train

BY TV SCOUT

8-9—Channel 4-5—The Perry Como Show has a happy finale for '61 with tonight's show, crowded with comedy and music. From the opening "Hoop-de-do" to the closing "Auld Lang Syne," this is variety entertainment at its best. Guests are comic Don Adams (with a monologue about paper-back books) and Caterina Valente who will introduce her brother, Silvio Francesco, to American audiences. (Color)

6:30-7:30 — (Channel 4-5) — Tonight's Wagon Train is one show which would have been impossible without a trained buffalo. In fact, Frank McGrath (who plays Wooster) saw a trained buffalo in the Inaugural Parade in Washington last January and thought up this story to make use of the talented beast. McGrath finds "Clyde" with an arrow in his hide and removes it; promptly, he acquires a pet. The problems which a pet buffalo causes in and among the wagons (he alienates the affections of two cows, for one thing) causes some comedy, but this is primarily the buffalo's story. The animal is amazing.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — Checkmate's plot tonight has more holes in it than a battered Swiss cheese, so don't attempt to follow it with logic. We meet Laraine Day as an amnesia victim, whose husband claims her an dtakes her home. But she doesn't feel that she is Mrs. Weston and contacts the Checkmaters to protect her.

8-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Much of the humor on The Bob Newhart Show tonight involves Indians, with Newhart playing the Indian to Joe Flynn's General Custer, Flynn's Columbus and Flynn's Boston Tea Party celebrant. These three brief skits make pointed comments on American foreign aid, immigration practices and union problems, respectively. Perhaps the funniest skit kids extremist groups unmercifully; Newhart establishes an extremist group that hates Eskimos. (Color)

9-10 (Channel 11) — Naked City is a semi-comedy tonight, although there's a genuine cops-and-robbers subplot that is deadly serious. The main plot, however, concerns James Barton as a retired postman who has a big railroad over a barrel; unless they open a drawbridge (closed for many years) he can collect $10,000 a month.

9-10 (Channel 2) — The U. S. Steel Hour introduces a scheming, malicious woman, whose machinations almost ruin the life of a lawyer and the happiness of a young couple. Her motivation is physical and is perhaps the weakest part of the story. But her scheming is clever and diabolical. Mona Freeman plays the villainess and Barry Morse is the lawyer she charms into helping her. Lloyd Bochner and Toby Robins are the objects of her hatred.

9:30-10 (Channel 4-5) — Tonight, on Broadway, the new musical, "Subways Are For Sleeping," is opening. Between scenes, the cast will be gathered around the TV sets installed backstage to watch David Brinkley's Journal, which is devoting its entire show to a history of this musical comedy. (Color.)

Village of Monona Making Unique Park

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—The village of Monona, one of the growing residential "satellites" that envelop the capital city, is converting a 50-acre marsh within its boundaries into a unique park.

Drainage is being provided through the development of a lagoon 14 feet deep in most parts. A road is being relocated to discourage fast traffic and more than 100,000 cubic yards of fill will provide a rolling landscape. Total cost is estimated at about $80,000

Jimmy Durante to Star With 'Jumbo' Again

Elephant Frightened Him in Famous Hippodrome Production 25 Years Ago

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Twenty-five years ago, James Durante uttered the classic remark: "An elephant never forgets, but what's he got to remember?"

That was in a stage extravaganza called "Jumbo," which Billy Rose produced at New York's old Hippodrome.

Proving the agelessness of the great Schnozola, Jimmy is once again playing with the pachyderms in a film version of "Jumbo.' It begins shooting shortly with Doris Day, Stephen Boyd and Martha Raye lending support to the long-nosed actor.

It is perhaps stretching the truth to say that Durante will be playing with the pachyderms. His contact with the elephants will be limited in the MGM film, and thereby hangs a tale.

"I loved dat elephant," Jimmy reminisced about the original Jumbo. "He was like a brudder to me.

"You know what I did? I let him put his foot up and step right over me while I was lyin' on the ground. Step right over me, he did. Den he rolled on his side and laid down right next to me. I'm tellin' ya, it brought down the house.

"Like a ballet dancer he was, pickin' his foot up and steppin' right over me, slow and easy.

"Well, I was doin' this for several weeks in the show when one night Frank Buck—the 'bring 'em back alive' Frank Buck—comes to my dressin' room.

" 'You're outa your mind, doin' that stunt,' he tells me. 'Why, I'd never trust an elephant any further'n I could trow him.'

" 'This scared the pants offa me. Next day I call a meetin'. Dere was Billy Rose and Hecht and MacArthur and Rodgers and Hart and I tell 'em, 'Boys, we gotta get a new act. Dat elephant is liftin' his foot over me for the last time.'

" 'We can't do that, Jimmy,' they tell me. 'Dat's the hit of the show!' So they talked me inta it.

"So every night I let dat elephant lift his foot over me, and I was sweatin' every time. He always did it dainty, but one day he put his foot down on a block of cement and cracked it to pieces.

"Jumbo and me parted company when the show closed after eight months. Believe me, I was not sorry

"So here I am back with de elephant. I tell you one ting—this one ain't goin' to step over me. I got it written in my contract."

Arctic Blasts Hit State With Zero Weather

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fresh batch of frigid Arctic air invaded Wisconsin Tuesday night, displacing moderate daytime temperatures and causing sub-zero readings over the northern half of the state.

Superior-Duluth had the state low of 12 below, while Eau Claire had -6, Wausau -4 and Lone Rock and Green Bay -1. Low temperatures were La Crosse zero, Madison 1 above, Beloit-Rockford 6 and Milwaukee and Racine 7.

Racine, with a high of 33, was Tuesday's warmest spot in the state. Milwaukee registered 32, Madison and Lone Rock 31, Beloit-Rockford 30, La Crosse and Green Bay 27, Eau Claire and Superior-Duluth 23, Wausau 22 and Park Falls 20.

Precipitation amounted only to traces.

Skies at midmorning today were clear as temperatures ranged from -11 at Superior-Duluth to 8 at Milwaukee and Beloit-Rockford.

Truck Driver Dies While Changing Flat

CHICAGO (AP) — A 45-year-old Kenosha truck driver died Tuesday, apparently of a heart ailment while changing a flat tire on the Tri-State Tollway near O'Hara International Airport.

Corporal John Mitchell of the Tollway Police said Richard Sandierson of the Arco Auto Carrier, stopped his truck to help a woman change a flat tire on her auto. He collapsed and died while removing the tire, Mitchell said.

Former Judge Ferdinand Pecora, who will be 80 Jan. 6, led the senate and banking committee investigation of the securities business 30 years ago. Pecora, who now practices law in New York, is watching the progress of a new federal probe, an investigation of the entire securities field to see if the ordinary investor is adequately protected and whether reforms should be made.

A Lot Like 1929

Old Prober Watches Stock Investigation

BY JOHN T. CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)—"I recall the heavy trading and speculation as early as 1928 . . . and then came 1929."

The date snapped out and Ferdinand Pecora cracked a fist into his hand. Slowly the years receded.

"We ignore history," he said quietly.

"Not one person in 10 trading today really has an adequate idea of what the stock market is."

Pecora is in a position to express opinions.

He was the jut-jawed counsel for the senate banking and currency committee during the last big investigation of the securities business, the one conducted in 1933.

Now, although not directly involved, he is watching the progress of a new federal probe—an investigation of the entire securities field to see if the ordinary investor is absolutely protected and whether reforms should be made. Some dirty linen is expected to be uncovered.

The 1933 investigation turned up 12,000 pages of testimony from men such as financier J. P. Morgan, former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, auto magnate Edsel Ford, oilman Harry Sinclair and Richard Whitney, New York Stock Exchange president—later to be sent to jail.

Resulted in Laws

It also led to formation of the Securities Exchange Act and the Securities and Exchange Commission, and amendments to the National Banking Act and the income tax laws.

"I read yesterday," said Pecora as he reclined in a big leather chair in his office, "where one billion shares were traded this year on the New York Stock Exchange. The only other year that happened was 1929.

"Well, 1929 was the year 'that catastrophe' occurred . . . that thing we called the stock market crash. And now I think there's too much activity again.

"I think brokers and even exchanges are too active.

"You pick up the papers and you see display ads by brokers. And the effect is readily manifest in heavy trading day after day."

Pecora, who since leaving the Securities and Exchange Commission in 1935 has been a New York State Supreme Court judge and an active political figure, now practices law with the firm of Schwartz & Frohlich.

He'll be 80 Jan 6.

'A Quantity Market'

"The greater part of the market today is a quantity market—rather than a quality market. It was the same in the 1929 crash, from which we may not have recovered yet."

Pecora adds, however, that this is the opinion of a man who has not followed the market as closely as he once did.

After working for the SEC for six mnths, Pecora resigned to accept appointment to the New York Supreme Court. Some say he was disgruntled by his failure to be named chairman. The job went, instead, to Joseph P. Kennedy, father of the president.

As for present canditions, Pecora says:

"There should be more stringent curbs on advertising by brokerage houses and investment bankers.

"He suggests also that fewer demands be made on stock market "customers men."

"These men today are relied upon to get business for brokers. In some instances their wage depends on the amount of business brought in. This gives rise to a growing evil of customers men creating activity.

"I do not wish to be hard. But I wish to be realistic.

"We must require brokerage houses to state the number of customers a year and the transactions by each customer. We should know the time elapsed between buying and selling by each customer."

Pecora makes clear it is not just his dollar he is concerned about. "I have had very little to invest. But I am also a little bit gun shy from what I have learned."

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF WISCONSIN, COUNTY COURT—OUTAGAMIE COUNTY
ORDER FOR HEARING
In the Matter Of The Trust Estate of HERMAN PEOTTER

On reading and filing the Petition of George E. Peotter, one of the Trustees, under the testamentary Trust of Louisa Peotter, deceased, praying that a time and place be appointed for the examination and formal allowance of the Trustees Final Accounts and for a discharge as Trustees under said Trust up to and including the 6th day of December, 1961, and for an Order for publication and mailing of such Order,

IT IS ORDERED That said Petition be heard at a term of Court in the Court House in the City of Appleton, Outagamie County, Wisconsin, commencing on the 9th day of January, 1962, at the opening of Court that day or as soon thereafter that said Petition can be heard.

DATED. December 11, 1961.

BY THE COURT:
STANLEY A STAIDL
County Judge

L. H CHUDACOFF, Attorney at Law

FRIENDLY FINANCE CORPORATION, a Wisconsin corporation Plaintiff
-vs- CITATION
FORD GUCKENBERG,
Defendant

That State of Wisconsin to Ford Guckenberg, address unknown:

It being made to appear to our County Court by the verified petition of Friendly Finance Corporation, a Wisconsin corporation, that you, Ford Guckenberg, are indebted to said petitioner in the sum of Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars,

Now, therefore, you are hereby cited and required to appear before said Court at a term thereof to be held at the court house in the City of Appleton, Outagamie County, Wisconsin, on the first Tuesday, being the 6th day of February, 1962, to show cause why your distributive share in the estate of the above named decedent, or so much thereof as may be necessary should not be applied upon your indebtedness to said petitioner, Friendly Finance Corporation, a Wisconsin corporation.

Witness the Honorable Stanley A. Staidl, Judge of said County Court, at City of Appleton, in said County of Outagamie, this 11th day of December, 1961.

Under Eyes of Viet Cong Snipers

U. S. Army Men, Trainees From Viet Nam Spend Lonely Christmas

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE

TRUNG LAP, South Viet Nam (AP)—Despite the constant threat of Viet Cong snipers and guerrillas, 15 U.S. Army men and their Vietnamese trainees stationed at this lonely ranger base in the jungle observed Christmas with a midnight Mass, a Christmas tree and a turkey dinner.

Malcolm W. Browne, Associated Press correspondent for South Viet Nam, spent Christmas at an advanced training base north of Saigon, where 15 U. S. Army instructors and their Vietnamese trainees observed the holiday under the eyes of Viet Cong snipers.

The Mass was said in Vietnamese by a South Vietnamese army chaplain. The Christmas tree was small and mounted on cases of mortar shells. And the turkey dinner had been carried 30 miles north from Saigon over bumpy, dangerous roads But Trung Lap camp spent a peaceful holiday.

With the Americans were about 500 Vietnamese ranger trainees and their officers, some 70 of them Christians. Next week the rangers will begin field training problems conducted on the "learn while you fight" principle. The maneuvers will be conducted against the Viet Cong rebels themselves.

Bridges Burned

During the past week, the Viet Cong had tried to burn down two bridges on a rutted, dusty road connecting the camp with the outside world. Communist sniper fire had been taking its toll of casualties among the Vietnamese rangers.

As the sun set on Christmas Eve, sounds of rooster calls and tom-toms told the camp that the Viet Cong outposts were watching and signalling from the surrounding rice fields and underbrush.

The new diesel generator was started, and lights came on in the new mess hall A string of lights on the Christmas tree was plugged in, and Capt Linton C. Beasley of Lynchburg, Va., senior U.S. adviser at the camp, produced a tape recorder with some Christmas carol tapes When the generator failed, the men lighted candles and sang.

During the day, the Rev. Dinh Tuan Ngan had arrived at the camp under heavy escort in his pink chaplain's jeep Father Ngan could speak no English but communicated with the Americans in enthusiastic, broken French, and prepared a makeshift altar and confessional in a training hut During the past year, the Viet Cong has made priests special targets.

Priest Murdered

After dinner Monday, the Americans played cards, swapped stories, read or wrote letters Most were lonely For all this was the first Christmas in Viet Nam, and for some of the younger officers it was the first Christmas away from home Most are married and have children back at home

Shortly before midnight, the massive barbed wire gate to the fort was opened. Vietnamese rangers carrying tommy guns escorted about 20 women and their children from the nearby village inside All the villagers were dressed in their best clothes and had come for Mass The children were given candy and taken to see the Christmas tree, but the generator had failed and the tree lights were out In the darkness, the children inspected the tinsel by flashlight illumination

Christian Rangers

The villagers were joined at the Mass by the Christian rangers and most of the Americans. Firecrackers were exploded to scare off mosquitoes, and the priest solemnly intoned the Roman Catholic rites

As the villagers walked away from the improvised chapel, an American mortarman fired five illuminating flares into the warm northern sky, casting a bright glare over the rice fields The shells exploded in the sky, forming the rough pattern of a star. Lookout posts checked the field, but no Viet Cong were in sight.

On Christmas Day, the Americans moved out of camp in combat formation for an inspection of the bridges and the nearby village. Children flocked around and candy was distributed.

Volleyball Played

During the day an army plane flew low over the camp, dropping a box of mail. The mail plane has not tried to land at the camp since breaking its landing gear there several months ago.

Just before sunset, Americans and Vietnamese set up a volleyball net and played until dinner.

The prized turkey and fixings were prepared with a flourish by Sgt. Al Combs, 34, of Brooklyn, N.Y., whose wife and four children stayed in Okinawa when he was sent to Viet Nam.

Along with all the other U.S. troops at Trung Lap, Combs can cook, fire mortars, train Vietnamese rangers, perform minor surgery, fix communications equipment, demolish enemy emplacements, fight in any kind of terrain, make combat parachute jumps or hack paths through the jungle. But on Christmas his principal problem was preparation of cranberry sauce.

The men went to bed early. There had been an intelligence report that a Viet Cong platoon with at least one automatic weapon had moved into the area, and the war would continue tomorrow.

Manitoba's Turkey Population Doubles

PLUM COULEE, Man. (AP) — Manitoba's wild turkey population came close to doubling in 1961, it was disclosed at a meeting of the Wild Gobblers, organized here recently.

More than 100 birds were hatched during the year, bringing the total to approximately 225.

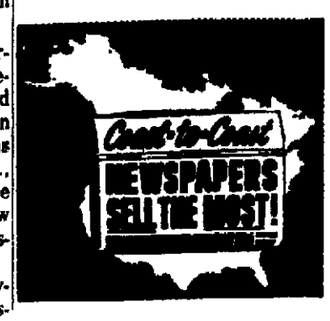

Oneida Tribe Plans Meeting

Discussion of Claim Against Government To be Major Topic

ONEIDA — The semi-annual meeting of the Oneida Tribal Council will be held here at 2 p. m. on Monday, Jan. 1. The meeting will be held in the tribal building, the former CCC building. Business will include a discussion of the progress of the Indian tribe's land claim case against the federal government. The Oneidas, with 3, 612 enrolled members, are seeking to recover about $2.5 million as their half-interest in 3,931,000 acres of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan land taken from them in 1831.

Marvin S. Chapman, an attorney for a Chicago law firm representing the Oneidas, presented four hours of oral arguments in the case before the Indian claims commission in Washington, D. C., on Nov. 30. A decision on the value of the land as of 1831 is now the question before the commission.

It is expected that it will be several months before the commission makes a finding on land value. It is most likely then that the federal government may appeal the decision to the Federal Court of Claims.
